Extensive Earthquake Shakes New England

HIGH BUILDINGS SHIVER AND SWAY AS EARTH ROCKS

Harvard Instruments Record Center of Quake as Being in Middle Massachusetts.

CABLE THROWN OUT OF ORDER

Many Sections Feel Tremors Which Are Pronounced But Lacking in Intensity.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(United News.)—A moderately violent earthquake, believed to have been the most severe in the history of the northeast coast of America, shook New England this afternoon and caused residents of Newfoundland, who never before experienced a seismic disturbance, to flee their homes. The tremors, though felt distinctly from the Hudson valley northward into Canada, resulted in no great damage.

Tall buildings in New England swayed and shivered precariously, windows were shattered and dishes knocked from shelves in Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut and New York.

A United News dispatch from St. Johns, Newfoundland, tonight, bore up the theory of scientists that the quake was centered on that island and in Nova Scotia.

Schooners lying at anchor off Newfoundland were tossed and rolled by high waves, caused by the disturbance. On the southern coast of the island, the water suddenly receded about six feet, then rolled back to normal.

During the quake dogs and cattle, frightened by the tremors, raced across fields and towns, howling and bawling. On the northwest coast, many families fled their homes in a panic.

The first tremor came at 3:35 p. m., according to recordings of the Fordham university seismograph in New York city. The second occurred two and one-half minutes later, while the most severe shock came three minutes after the second. The Fordham instrument indicated that the quake's center was 87 miles north of New York city.

Cable Out.

The most severe damage reported was temporary disruption of cable communication along the upper Atlantic seaboard. Land telephone lines also were temporarily affected.

The Western Union Telegraph Company reported that one of its cables from New York to New Foundland is temporarily out of commission, apparently because of the disturbance. Commercial cable companies reported trouble on lines from here to Nova Scotia and at the cablehead in the Gloucester region.

Belief that the quake may have been centered somewhere east of the seaboard in the Atlantic was expressed by cable companies.

Officials of Canisius college at Buffalo, N. Y., reported that their seismograph had registered a severe shock, which they described as being 1,200 miles distant. The tremor, they said, was "most extraordinary and severe."

In New York state the quake was severest at Albany, the state capital, where buildings were shaken and telegraph service temporarily disrupted.

Feel Tremor.

Schenectady and Troy felt the tremors. At Holyoke, in western Massachusetts, two distinct shocks were felt, and at Taunton, in the southeastern part of the state, the quake was quite severe. In both places windows were broken, pictures shaken off the walls and dishes shattered.

At Boston, the custom house, tall steel building in New England, shivered for about 2 minutes, being at 3:40 o'clock. Employees in the building said they could feel the structure sway during the quake.

At Concord, N. H., the tremor was barely perceptible, while at Newhall, Me., residents reported distinct rumblings.

East Bridgewater, Mass., was shaken severely for about 5 minutes. The quake was not severe in the Hudson valley, although residents of Hudson and Kingston reported that they had felt it distinctly from 8:40 to 4:15 p. m.

HARVARD SEISMOGRAPH RECORDS DISTURBANCE.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—(United News.)—New England was rocked by one of the severest and most extensive earthquakes in its history late today.

The tremor was recorded on the Harvard university seismograph from 3:34 p. m. until 4:40 p. m., at which time a record was removed although faint rumblings were still registering.

Council Approves Ordinance Calling For Bond Election

COUNCIL STIRRED BY WIRING BATTLE

Misunderstood Hint of "Expenditure" Throws Session Into Uproar Over City Hall.

Statement of Alderman Ben T. Huie that he had been told $3,500 was to be spent in the aldermanic board to pass wiring installations in Atlanta's new $1,000,000 city hall in variance with specifications precipitated a furore in council Monday afternoon and ended when Mr. Huie explained he had the "utmost confidence in every one of my colleagues and mentioned it only to defend them."

The new city hall also was the center of two other councilmanic rows concerning payment of $35,300 to the National Construction Company, contractors, for delays in the work which the city caused, and approval of a resolution looking to the purchase of furnishings for the new building on a deferred payment plan.

Both the latter papers were adopted by city council, but were held up in the aldermanic board after passing that body, on notices to move for reconsideration at the next regular meeting, December 2.

Immediate Answers.

Mr. Huie obtained the floor while council was in the midst of accepting a report from the conference committee providing that council accept $1,500 tendered by a wire manufacturing company for failing to furnish equipment in compliance with specifications, December 2.

Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the conference committee, was presenting the committee's report.

"I just want to say that I was told that $3,500 was to be spent in this body to pass the wiring which was installed," Mr. Huie declared.

Immediately several members of council jumped to their feet demanding the names of those "who made such a statement."

Alderman Claude Ashley declared that Mr. Huie's assertion should not be treated lightly but that it should be probed to its very core.

"This is a grave and serious indictment against every member of this body and should be investigated zealously," Mr. Ashley said. "It imputes dishonesty to every member of this body. Mr. Huie owes it to us to give us that name."

Councilman Harry York made a motion asking that Mr. Huie tell council who "they are in order that criminal libel proceedings can be instituted. I'll pay my share of the prosecution costs."

Council passed unanimously the York paper after Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, and other members also had called upon Mr. Huie to name his informant.

Following council's action, Mr. Huie asked for time and left the council chamber.

Several minutes later Mr. Huie returned to his chair, asked for the floor and declared he had been misunderstood, that he intended to attack such statements and that it had been given to him confidentially.

He never made any charge that such had been done," Mr. Huie declared, "My intention was to defend."

VICTIM OF BULLET OF COMRADE DIES

Man Fatally Wounded Companion Killed Himself After Arrest; Still Unidentified.

Fatally wounded by a bullet from his companion's gun when the latter committed suicide, after being arrested by DeKalb county officers near Decatur Sunday night, an unknown man died at 6:20 o'clock Monday night at Wesley Memorial hospital.

He died without regaining consciousness or being identified, and his body has been removed to the undertaking parlors of A. S. Turner at Decatur, Sheriff Hall, of DeKalb county, is anxious that the body be identified, and asks anyone knowing the man to telephone him at once. The unknown man was about 28 years old, is light haired and of fair complexion. On his right shoulder tattoo markings bear the names of "Mary" and "Nellie." On his left leg he wears the name of "John."

The two had attempted to sell a sedan for $50 and had aroused suspicion. The car was identified as a stolen 1928 Buick, of 410 Broad street, Rome. Officers from that city came for the machine Monday afternoon.

The theory that the two men were connected with robberies in an Atlanta store, which was held up by the two men, was first advanced by Decatur night. Although a victim of a small grocery store holdup on Atlanta street, the man was not identified as the man who had been arrested by officers on a charge of suspicion. He and the unidentified man were handcuffed to each other.

Tate Plans Huge Loan For Needed State Road Work

Special Session of Highway Board Is Called To Authorize Borrowing of $2,000,000.

Colonel Sam Tate, chairman of the state highway board, announced Monday that he had called a meeting of the board for Thursday and Friday of this week to arrange to borrow $2,000,000 for highway purposes under the anticipated gasoline revenue law held constitutional by the supreme court last week.

The chairman's action came following a decision last week by Judge H. A. Matthews at Macon denying an injunction sought by Houston county citizens which would have tied up the road program.

Colonel Tate stated that he is proceeding under the authority of Governor L. G. Hardman. He will lay the question of a loan before the board, and will ask the board to authorize borrowing of $2,000,000.

With the $2,000,000, Colonel Tate said that he would retire the outstanding indebtedness of the state highway board, and with the aid of the regular highway appropriation, arrange so that the state highway board would be able to match and obtain an additional $2,000,000 of federal aid money which is now available.

$4,000,000 Federal Aid.

After January 1, he said, Georgia will have $4,000,000 to expend on federal aid highways within the state. The money, he said, would not be in a lump sum, but would be available as rapidly as projects could be completed.

He would not reveal his plans as to which of the federal aid highways would be improved first. These, he said, were a part of a five-year program proposed by him, which will be submitted to the board after January 1, when W. C. Venable, newly appointed highway board member, assumes his office.

The indebtedness of the highway board at the present time is about $3,500,000, Colonel Tate said. All outstanding debts can be retired with about $2,000,000, he said, the other $1,500,000 being represented by obligations for projects now under construction, some of which will not be completed for six months.

The entire income of the state highway board is about $2,000,000, he said. The construction of regular state projects will go forward as rapidly as the federal aid money of $4,000,000 on federal aid highways.

Gas Income $2,000,000.

Estimates prepared for Governor L. G. Hardman some time ago show that 20 per cent of the gasoline tax revenue will be about $2,000,000 by January 31, 1930. The limitation set by statute for the advance hypothecation of gasoline tax revenues. Although the statute provides that up to 40 per cent of the estimated gasoline tax revenues may be anticipated and converted into ready cash by issuing deferred payment warrants, it has been indicated that the chief executive will not exceed the percentage necessary to obtain $2,000,000.

This, he carried out, will leave 80 per cent of the revenue of the highway department available for the construction of state projects.

The question of immediate highway construction will come before the board Thursday and Friday, Colonel Tate indicated. He said he would ask the board what, and how much highway construction might be undertaken, and when contracts could be let.

Colonel Tate Monday declared a decision last week by Judge Matthews, denying an injunction against the construction of a road in Houston county, was "the best thing that ever happened for Georgia's roadbuilding program."

The decision, he declared, settled a question which has been in the state for years. "It vindicated the board's authority to proceed in its work in what it considers the best way to protect the interests of the general public," he said.

If we are to be met with injunctions every time we attempt to locate a road," he continued, "we can accomplish absolutely nothing. If the courts had interpreted the law differently we would have been left open to such procedure."

"We all know that everyone wants a good road to run by his home. But this is impossible. It remains, therefore, for the board to place roads where they are of most value—where they will serve the greatest number of people and come nearer meeting the greatest and most pressing needs."

MAN ALIGHTING FROM STREET CAR KILLED BY AUTO

Arthur J. McClain Is Second Victim of "Hit and Run" Machine in Atlanta Within 24 Hours.

Homeward bound after a hard day's toil in the engine room at the Piedmont Laundry, Arthur J. McClain, 35, was knocked down and killed Monday night as he alighted from a street car at the intersection of Washington and Richardson streets—the second victim of a hit and run driver in Atlanta within 24 hours.

McClain, who had been at work in the laundry since early Monday morning, was the only passenger to leave the street car. The death machine, a large touring car, sped up just as he stepped from the car and struck him with full force.

The driver of the car kept on going, increasing if possible, his rate of speed, police were told.

Only one person, a woman, whom the police have not identified, saw the accident. She, with another woman and two men were seated in a parked car about 50 yards from the intersection of the two streets. She is said to have told persons who congregated at the scene immediately after the accident that she believed all persons in the death car were negroes.

"Drive on, you've hit a man," she is reported to have said, and one of the occupants of the car told the driver after the impact.

An ambulance of the Harry G. Poole company was called to the scene. McClain was dead when it reached the scene.

The fatality was the second due to a hit-and-run driver in the last 24 hours. The first victim was a man whose car struck and killed Mrs. L. E. Owens Sunday night in front of her home at 308 McDonough road.

Funeral services will be held at the funeral parlors of J. Austin Dillon at 11 o'clock today, with Dr. Wallace Rogers officiating. Interment will be in the Oakland cemetery.

FLORIDA FRUIT FLY QUARANTINED

Shipments To Be Permitted to Southern and Western States November 21 to January 31.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(U-P) Fruit fly quarantine against movement of Florida citrus fruit into southern and western states was lifted today for the period between November 21 and January 31, with the provision that all such fruit shipped into these areas is sterilized, either through heating or cooling processes approved by the department of agriculture.

The department indicated that the period would be extended through the month of February if conditions in Florida on February 1 warrant such extension.

Under an additional feature of the new order, issued by Secretary Hyde, tomatoes raised outside the eradication area will be allowed to move into southern and western areas, provided they move under permit and are shipped green.

All movement of citrus fruit and other host plants from Florida into cotton-growing states and fruit raising states of the west has been prohibited since May 16, when first quarantine regulations against the fruit fly were promulgated.

CABINET MEMBER PASSES AT 8:30 MONDAY EVENING

Was Victim of Blood Poisoning Following Operation for Gangrenous Appendicitis.

FUNERAL SERVICE AT WHITE HOUSE

At 63, Good Had Established Self as Legislator and Capable War Head; Managed Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(U-P) James W. Good, secretary of war, died tonight at 8:30 o'clock after blood poisoning finally overwhelmed his courageous resistance.

Just before lapsing into the final unconsciousness, the secretary of war had turned to one of his physicians and said feebly:

"I have never lost a fight in my life and I am not going to lose this one."

Toward the end opiates and oxygen were administered regularly to ease his pain and reinforce his strength. The stubborn determination to live persisted but weakness from poisoned blood slowly overcame his tenacity.

Mrs. Good and their sons were near the bedside when death came. Secretary Adams and Secretary Davis also were at the hospital tonight.

President Hoover was among the first to learn of the passing. He and Mrs. Hoover left the White House at once to go to the Military hospital and comfort the widow of their friend.

The entrance hall and foyer of the hospital were cleared of all visitors and sentries were stationed at all doorways along the long hall down which the President and Mrs. Hoover passed to the room where lay the body of the late secretary.

They spent 10 minutes with the bereaved family, and re-entering their automobiles returned to the White House.

Secretary Good was stricken Tuesday while working on the annual department report. He went home, where that evening Surgeon General Joel T. Boone, personal physician to the president, advised his immediate removal to the hospital.

Early Wednesday morning an immediate operation for gangrenous perforating appendicitis was ordered. Colonel William L. Keller, noted army surgeon, chief of cabinet while in office since that in 1924 of Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture in the Harding and Coolidge administrations.

The war secretary made many friends here while in the house as a representative from Iowa from 1909 to 1912.

Pride Is Illiteracy's Biggest Obstacle, Says Dr. Brittain

EDUCATOR HOPES PROBLEM WILL BE CONQUERED

BY HELEN AND OLIVE PARISH.
Pride is the greatest obstacle in the combat against illiteracy, according to Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, who was Saturday appointed a member of the national commission on illiteracy which will consult with Secretary of the Interior Wilbur in Washington on December 7.

"It is pride that prevents illiterates from availing themselves of obvious means to learn to read and write," said Dr. Brittain. "For this reason it seems to me that there is great need for tact in work on illiteracy. It often happens that people of ma-efforts of this sort as soon as possible, because the census records of last year will stand against the state for the coming decade.

Georgia ranks low among the states in the matter of illiteracy, for three reasons, in the opinion of Dr. Brittain. The first cause is post-Civil War poverty, which greatly increased the percentage of illiteracy during long years of rehabilitation. In the second place, the white man of the state is not only obliged to educate the members of his own race, but he also bears the burden of educating the negro.

The third principal cause for illiteracy in Georgia, suggests Dr. Brittain, is the proportionately small amount of wealth per child in the state. These three forces will place a stigma of illiteracy upon Georgia that cannot be removed for the next ten years, unless some speedy action is undertaken.

That such work is possible was amply demonstrated by the campaign headed by Dr. Brittain in 1919, in which 2,807 classes were organized, 35,137 persons enrolled, and 17,982 people taught to read their Bibles and the newspapers, and to have some knowledge of figures.

CALM IS RESTORED AFTER MEXICAN VOTING

Celebration Is Quiet After Tempestuous Voting Day With 19 Killings

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mexico accepted quietly today the results of the national elections of yesterday in which Pascual Ortiz Rubio was elected president. In marked contrast to the disorders attending the voting in which 19 persons were killed and more than 50 injured, the celebrations today by members of the national revolutionary party passed off quietly.

An indication of the sweeping victory of the government party was shown in incomplete returns from the federal district which gave Ortiz Rubio 106,074 votes while Jose Vasconcelos, his anti-re-electionist party rival, polled only 2,580. Vasconcelos so far has shown no intention of carrying out his pre-election threat to declare himself president of the republic even if the polling went against him.

Although clashes had been frequent, they in no case grew into a general outbreak. The thoroughness of preparations by the authorities who kept the entire evening on call throughout yesterday was believed to have been responsible for preventing any more serious troubles.

FAIR WEATHER BRINGS HIGHWAY CREWS TO ROADS

A large force of state highway workers took advantage of the fair weather Monday to work the roads north of Atlanta which were rendered impassable in places by the week's heavy rains.

The sections which are receiving the attention of the repair crew are a quarter mile stretch between Atlanta and Gainesville, the Lawrenceville-Buford road; the Rome-Summersville road; the Atlanta-Carrollton road, and the Villa Rica-Douglasville road.

Fair Weather Will Continue, Forecast Says

Monday's fair sky, due to repeat again today, is expected by weather bureau officials to whip the rain-soaked roads back into shape for comfortable motoring by Wednesday.

Coupled with a prophecy that Atlanta is to have some fine, clear and moderately cool days this week, C. F. von Herrmann is predicting that a freeze is still a long way off.

Monday's temperature, which will be a sturdy continuance of the good many overcasts. They were generally welcomed as substitutes for slakers that have been doing overtime lately.

my colleagues from a whispering campaign. I could not give the name of the person who informed me because it came confidentially and was not to be repeated. My brother councilman misunderstood me if they thought I was bringing such a charge and broadcasting it on the floor of this body. I do not believe it."

Several members of council again demanded to know who the person or persons were who made the statement which Mr. Huie had repeated but the latter was adamant in his statement that he could not betray a confidence even though he did not believe what had been told him were true.

Councilman McCutcheon declared: "Mr. Huie's statement does not satisfy me. I am chairman of the special city hall committee and have tried to give the city a beautiful, useful building and one in which it would get 50 cents for every dollar spent."

Alderman Oscar H. Williamson arose and declared he had been a member of council and the aldermanic board nearly 14 years and that was the first time any such statement ever had been made on the floor.

"Mr. Huie owes it to members of this body to tell us who made such a statement," Mr. Williamson stated. "If he will not tell us, I want him to tell the low-down, contemptible person who did make it that it is not true and if the one who made it doesn't like it, I will be glad to see him personally outside this building at any time."

No Authority, Chair Rules.

Alderman J. Allen Couch, provisional mayor pro tem, who was presiding, ruled he had no authority to force any member of council to divulge a confidence and the discussion ended.

Payment Attacked.

Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance committee, brought in the recommendation that council pay the National Construction Company the damage claim at this time and save about $1,600 in interest and a rebate which the company has agreed to make if the city will pay the claim immediately.

It was attacked by several members of city council but passed general council and was voted on favorably in the aldermanic board passing the latter body by a vote of 7 for and 3 against.

Alderman Murphy served notice of reconsideration. A letter was approved by council and the aldermanic board but was held up on notice of reconsideration by Alderman Ed A. Gilliam.

"Hon. Mayor and Council, 'City of Atlanta, Georgia.' Without obligation on your part and without obligation from the city of Atlanta to buy in 1930, we will, with your permission, begin the manufacture of the furniture and furnishings for the new city hall in accordance with our bids recommended by your city hall committee so as to have them ready for installation when the new city hall is ready for occupancy. If then your honorable body will buy from us, we will accept payment, one-third cash, balance in one and two years at 5 1/2 per cent.

"Respectfully submitted," (Signed)
"NEWTON & HOIT CO.,
"By E. H. Sullivan,
"BROWN DECORATING CO.,
"By M. A. Harrington,
"FOOTE & DAVIES CO.,
"By W. O. Foote."

Those signing the paper are low bidders on the city hall furnishings. Aldermen Millican and Gilliam attacked the procedure, declaring the city should be more economical and not purchase some of the items included in the list of furnishings and equipment.

Mr. Millican declared that the city could have saved at least $17,000 if it had insisted on unit prices for all the items it advertised for, and held that it is not economy to accept block prices.

Councilman McCutcheon and other members of the city hall committee declared council should provide new equipment and held that passage of the letter would not bind the city to buy the equipment.

"It would be a disgrace to move the old furniture and furnishings into the new building," Mr. McCutcheon said. "I have labored all along under the impression that the city wanted it furnished in keeping with the building which it has erected."

"Our estimates were that the building would cost about $1,287,000 without furnishings or any equipment, but we find now that it will be constructed and equipped for about $1,100,000—a saving of about $187,000 for a building that Atlanta will be proud of many years to come."

Mr. Gilliam attacked purchase of "decks costing $700 for the mayor's suite; cuspidors costing $35 and waste baskets listed at exorbitant figures" as extravagances which the city cannot afford.

"You all can vote for them if you want," he said, "but I am going to keep my skirts clear. I may want to run again."

SLIGH FACES TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Evidence in 3-Year-Old Mystery Case To Be Presented Today

OCEILLA, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A venire of 60 and approximately 20 witnesses were ready tonight for the opening of the trial of Harry K. Sligh tomorrow before Judge R. E. of the Irwin superior court, on a charge of murder in connection with the disappearance of Harry Loving, of Huntington, W. Va., more than three years ago.

Aubrey Carlisle Hoover and James Hoover, brothers, who also are charged with murder in connection with Loving's disappearance, will not go on trial at this time, Solicitor General Roy S. Foy said tonight.

Among those here for Sligh's trial is Mrs. Maude Loving Powers, of Huntington, W. Va., mother of Loving, whose search for her missing son resulted in the investigation that brought about the arrest of Sligh here, Aubrey Hoover in Daytona Beach, Florida, and James Hoover in Providence, Rhode Island.

According to the state's version of the case, the motive for the alleged killing of Loving was a $50,000 life insurance policy on Sligh's life. Loving is alleged to have been killed in Sligh's home near here and the home burned. The charred body found in the ruins was believed to have been that of Sligh. It was buried as such in Seneca, S. C., while Sligh himself disappeared.

When collection of the insurance was sought, the insurance company instigated an investigation in consequence of which Sligh was located in California and returned here, tried for arson, and acquitted.

Solicitor Foy said Loving left his West Virginia home August 3, 1923, for Florida, and was killed on the night of September 27 of the same year.

Loving was hitch hiking with the Hoover brothers and the state alleges the trio spent the night of the fire in Sligh's home. Sligh's version is that a man he believed to be Loving was at his home the night before the house was burned, and returned and sought to rob him.

Sligh said that, after a struggle, he choked the intruder and fled, the fight resulting in an overturned lamp that set the house afire. Sligh also asserts two men outside tried to rob him, after which he lost his memory which was not regained until he reached California.

A charred body has been exhumed in Seneca, but Sligh says it was too badly burned to positively identify.

BRITISH ACADEMY AWARDS PRIZE TO U. S. WRITER

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The British academy today awarded its Rose Mary Crawshaw prize for English literature for 1929 to Miss Emily Hope Allen, of Bryn Mawr and Radcliffe colleges, for work entitled "Writings Ascribed to Richard Rolle, Hermit of Hampole," published in America in 1927. The value of the prize is 100 pounds, or about $485.

MOTHER AND TWO CHILDREN DEAD FROM GAS POISON

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Bert Rush, 35, her son, George, 7, and daughter, Alice-Bert, 5, were killed by monoxide gas in their automobile in the Rush garage early today. Coroner R. A. Vorpal called an inquest today.

When neighbors found the bodies, the motor of the car was running and the garage choked with exhaust fumes.

"Where Satisfaction is a Certainty"

*of satisfaction on every item sold in a Rogers Store
— backed by Reputable Manufacturers —* and what it means to you

"Where Satisfaction is a Certainty"

It means that YOU must be satisfied with every purchase — thoroughly satisfied — or the purchase price will be refunded without question — without embarrassment — without quibble

SINCE the establishment of the first Rogers store, 37 years ago, and on up to and through the growth of our 400 pure food stores, it has been a fixed and unalterable policy with us to please and satisfy our customers — at any cost.

This policy is the first cornerstone in the foundation of our growth and success. It has made a wonderful impression on our thousands of patrons, because they have learned to accept it as a literal truth.

Many years ago we adopted, and have continued to use until this day, the slogan, "Where Satisfaction Is a Certainty." We have never wavered from this policy.

Rogers, Inc., neither as an institution or as individuals making up our big organization, claims infallibility. Sometimes mistakes are made. Sometimes employees—out of a number of more than 1,000—thoughtlessly fail to appreciate the obligation resting upon them to strictly observe fixed policies.

We realize that our loyal sales forces are human, and that, sometimes, when they honestly feel that they are being taken advantage of, that, acting under an impulse, they forget instructions. Notwithstanding this, Rogers, Inc., believes, that, in the main, the great body of men who serve the public through our 400 stores and 190 markets are doing their best to render pleasing service and to carry out the ideals and practices which have been passed on to them, as far as the conduct of our stores is concerned.

"THAT THE CUSTOMER IS ALWAYS RIGHT" is a thought the officials of Rogers, Inc., have constantly and persistently tried to instill into the minds of its great force of managers and sales clerks.

And we are gratified that during our many years of experience we have found only a very small fraction of consumers who, at times, attempt to take advantage of this fixed Rogers' policy.

It must be remembered that Rogers, Inc., buys from year to year and passes out over their counters millions of dollars' worth of manufactured food products over which they have no control in the making.

However, this organization prides itself on dealing with only the largest and best and most dependable manufacturers of this country, and in practically every instance the merchandise purchased from them is guaranteed to us.

Despite the care and close attention given by these large concerns in the manufacture of pure food products in packages, in cans, and in other ways, there might happen to be, at times, some faulty process or an occasional bad can or package. At times there might be other troubles with foods sold over our counters, just as with an individual store or with other chains.

But, added to the manufacturer's guarantee—and whether there is a guarantee or not—the Rogers' guarantee is ALWAYS there.

And Rogers' patrons can be assured that at any and all times, whenever a complaint should arise about any commodity bought from one of our stores, that a pleasant and prompt adjustment will be made without question.

Our managers and sales forces are being constantly reminded of this, and although such adjustments are very infrequent, due to the high quality of products handled through our stores, we believe we are safe in saying that they are 100 per cent quickly and satisfactorily adjusted.

SATISFACTION

It ought to be a source of satisfaction to YOU to know that any and every purchase you make in a Rogers' store or market—and there are 400 pure food stores and 190 modern markets to select from—must be a satisfactory purchase or your money refunded. Why not trade—always—where there is no possibility of your being dissatisfied?

INCOME TAX HEARING IS SET FOR DEC. 9

Injunction Petition Filed by Rome Citizens in Court Here.

A rule nisi requiring State Tax Commissioner R. C. Norman to show cause on December 9 as to why he should not be enjoined from enforcing the state income tax law passed by the 1928 legislature was signed Monday by Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court.

The order was attached to a petition presented by a number of plaintiffs from Rome who seek to test the constitutionality of the new tax act. No provision was made for a temporary injunction pending the hearing on December 9, as machinery for the collection of the tax will not be in operation until next March.

Service of the injunction bill was acknowledged Monday afternoon by Orrville A. Park, of counsel for the Norman. The bill will be filed in the AGTRESS TELLS SECRET

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—(adv.)

How Proposed Income Tax Cut Effects Married Man

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The treasury today issued a revised statement showing how the proposed 1 per cent cut in income taxes to be recommended to congress by Secretary Mellon would affect the income of a married man with no dependents.

The first table issued last Thursday, the treasury said, was inaccurate in some respects. The present table shows the income up to and including $10,000 and the amount above that figure at normal and surtax. The table follows:

Net Income Present Rate Proposed Rate Reduction

$ 4,000 5.63 5.63 $ 1.88 3.75

5,000 6.88 6.88 5.63 11.25

6,000 8.00 8.00 6.88 12.00

7,000 9.13 9.13 8.00 12.75

8,000 10.25 10.25 9.13 13.50

9,000 11.38 11.38 10.25 14.25

10,000 12.50 12.50 11.38 15.00

The following are listed as the petitioners: H. P. Meiklehan, Popperell Manufacturing Company, John M. Berry, Rome Hosiery Mills; Cherokee Hosiery Mills, H. A. Dean, executor; A. A. Chapman, Brittain Brothers Company, Land Company and John M. Berry, all of Rome.

More than 20 grounds of alleged unconstitutionality of the statute are cited in the petition, which was prepared by the law firms of Little, Powell, Smith & Goldstein; Randolph, Parker & Fortson, and Alston, Alston, Foster & Moore, of Atlanta, and Wright, Wright & Covington, of Rome.

The plaintiffs charge that the state income tax violates the uniformity clause of the Georgia constitution, and delegates both the power of legislation and judicial authority of Georgia to the United States congress and federal courts.

The petitioners allege that the act is unconstitutional because it is not uniform on all subjects of the same class. The petitioners allege that the tax is not uniform on occupations, privileges or franchises, and that it is laid on incomes without regard to their source. The plaintiffs also contend that it is variable as to different amounts depending upon acts of the federal government, which has no constitutional provision as to uniformity or limitation. Exemptions are all based upon the peculiar situation of the taxpayer and are not uniform, the petitioners claim. The plaintiffs also charge that there is an arbitrary distinction between income from wages and salaries received from corporations, and that the tax is based on what a taxpayer actually returns instead of what he should return, yet there is no provision for correcting returns as the federal law has.

TEXAS EDUCATOR WILL BE HONORED BY DINNER TONIGHT

Miss Eula Hunter, of Fort Worth, Texas, who was unanimously elected president of the department of classroom teachers of the National Education Association at the annual meeting of the department at Atlanta last July, will address the teachers of Atlanta and Fulton county at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Baptist tabernacle.

For the past five years Miss Hunter has been an officer of the department, having served two terms as vice president and three years as regional director for the middle section.

Miss Hunter also has been active in teacher organization work in her own city and state, and for two terms was president of the Fort Worth Teachers' Association. She is a member of the Texas education commission, the advisory council of the Texas Teachers Association, and a teacher of mathematics in the Stripling Senior High school of Fort Worth.

The Atlanta and Fulton county teachers will honor Miss Hunter with a banquet at the Biltmore at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Many classroom teachers, principals and officials of both systems will be present. James P. Barron, of Atlanta, vice president of the department of classroom teachers, will preside.

POLA NEGRI SUE FOR BACK TAXES OF THREE YEARS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Pola Negri, screen actress, has been named in three income tax liens filed in federal court by Internal Revenue Collector Galen H. Welch.

The government alleges Miss Negri listed two many tax returns during the years 1924, 1925 and 1926, and neglected to include some of the profits she realized as a movie star and business woman. The treasury department asks the additional payment of $13,808.90 for 1924, $13,491.74 for 1925 and $29,319.46 for 1926.

Miss Marjorie Berger, Hollywood tax counselor, recently convicted of aiding Dorothy Mackall, film player, to make false income tax returns, is scheduled to appear in federal court today to have trial dates set on three similar charges in connection with the tax returns of other film personages.

CUBA GOODWILL PARTY TO RETURN TO CITY TONIGHT

The official delegation from Atlanta to Cuba, headed by Mayor N. Ragsdale, scheduled to return here on Monday, has delayed its arrival until tonight, it was learned from a telegram received by Henson Tatum, secretary to the mayor.

The group has been to the island republic to arrange for the visit of a Cuban delegation to Atlanta in December, to witness athletic contests between local teams and similar organizations from Cuba.

The city council Monday guaranteed $2,000 for entertainment of the delegation from Cuban educational institutions who will be in Atlanta December 6 for a series of athletic contests between G. M. A. and the visitors.

BROADNAX FINED FOR MAINTAINING PLACE FOR BETTING

Plea of guilty to a charge of maintaining a place for the purpose of receiving bets on horse races Monday resulted in a $250 fine for Joe Broadnax in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court. Broadnax also was given a suspended sentence of 12 months.

REAR ADMIRAL JONES TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Stimson Makes Announcement While Navy Officer Keeps Silence.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson announced today that Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones informed him last week that he would accompany the American delegation to the London arms conference as a naval adviser.

The secretary added he had no reason to believe the admiral had changed his mind.

Mr. Stimson's announcement was made in connection with various published reports to the effect that Admiral Jones would not accompany the delegation, or had not yet decided to go to the party.

Admiral Jones himself said today he could not discuss the published reports that he would withdraw from the American naval delegation, adding "any information on the subject must come from the state department."

The naval officer, who was one of the two American delegates to the tripartite naval limitation conference at Geneva in 1927, returned here today from Philadelphia and later conferred with Secretary Adams and Admiral Hughes, chief of naval operations.

Gossip in a big naval circle had been that Admiral Jones might decide against attending the London conference in a position subordinate to that of Admiral William V. Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

Admiral Jones has been one of the chief advisers of President Hoover in the negotiations leading up to the armament conference, and Hoover has a very high regard for the admiral's ability as one of the foremost of American naval men.

"I have every reason to believe that 'Admiral Jones is going with me to London,' Secretary Stimson's statement said. 'I have great confidence in his character, his ability and his experience, and he knows that I have that confidence and he told me before I went away he was going to go with me to London as my adviser. I have no reason to suppose he has changed his mind. I haven't changed mine.'"

ENGLAND'S BIG ZEP FINISHES LONGEST OF TEST FLIGHTS

CARDINGTON, England, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Despite a fog blanket that covered all the middle and southern sections of the British isles, delayed railway traffic, and held ships in port, Britain's great new dirigible, R-101, today completed here the longest flight.

Leaving her mooring mast yesterday morning with technical experts and the crew aboard, the airship sailed to Newcastle, in northern England, and they by way of Edinburgh and Glasgow to Belfast, in northern Ireland. From Belfast she zig-zagged down the Irish sea, passing over the Isle of Man, Blackpool, Dublin and Holyhead. She returned home this afternoon by way of Chester and the Midlands.

The flight lasted more than 30 hours and was completed without a hitch. Major G. H. Scott, commander of the R-101, was enthusiastically over the results. He said the airship had maintained an average cruising speed of 60 miles per hour and made satisfactory turning trials during the night.

BULLET RIDDLED BODIES OF TEXAS BROTHERS FOUND IN WELL.

TEXARKANA, Texas, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The bullet riddled bodies of two brothers, Arthur and Lee Madison, were found late today in an abandoned well near Arter, Ark., 13 miles east of here.

The bodies were found by a searching party organized by relatives after the brothers had been missing for nearly two weeks. They lived seven miles east of here in Miller county, Arkansas.

Shortly after the bodies were recovered, two suspects, a man and a woman, were arrested at the man's home, located two miles from the Madison residence. The man had served a year in the Arkansas penitentiary on a liquor charge. He was 35 years old. The woman, 20 years old, was said to be a sweetheart of the man.

Officers expected further arrests. They believed moonshine activities in Miller county a motive for the shooting. Sheriff McGee said each body bore three bullet wounds, all having entered the back. This, together with other circumstances, he said, caused him to incline to the belief that the brothers had been "taken for a ride" and then put on the spot by moonshiners whom he said operated a still in that vicinity.

Sheriff McGee said he had definitely learned the brothers had left home with the intention of visiting the still.

Prejudice Thrives Where Ignorance Hives! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE beckons all to cultivate knowledge. Tyranny, intolerance and poverty wither as schools grow in this great land of opportunity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES

"It's Toasted"

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Constitution Hospital Edition
MERCHANTS REALIZE ISSUE OFFERS BIG ADVANTAGES
To Hold Many Gift Suggestions

BY MRS. GEORGE ROBERT ARGO.

The all-encompassing problem at this season of the year is what shall we give for her, her or the other person?

It is proposed to offer many happy solutions to this problem in the December 8 gift suggestion edition of The Constitution, being sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Scottish Rite hospital. In soliciting advertisements for the rotogravure section—which is to be composed of personally posed photographs of this season's debutantes and others—the women who are directing the edition are making suggestions to the various advertisers as to what merchandise they think would make the most popular appeal, thus doubling in a very practical way the value of the advertisement. The fact that the merchants having Christmas goods to offer appreciate this gift suggestion edition as a valuable publicity medium is testified to by the number and the size of the advertisements that are coming in every day.

The personal equation always being a matter of distinct importance, it is of interest to know just who are the women who are responsible for this decidedly new journalistic venture on its second appearance, the first edition of this kind having been sponsored by the auxiliary last December.

Mrs. William Clarke Wardlaw is chairman of the enterprise, assisted by Mrs. Frank Syrtland, president of the woman's auxiliary.

Carrying on the business of the office, where all questions concerning the edition will be promptly answered either in person at the Constitution or over telephone, Walnut 1804, are Mrs. Edgar Neely, Mrs. Albert Adams, Mrs. Joseph Hilsman, Mrs. George Robert Argo and Miss Elizabeth Gregg.

Soliciting advertisements and further assisting are: Mrs. Joel Chandler Harris, Jr., Mrs. Lloyd Tompkins, Mrs. Charles F. Wolf, Mrs. M. C. Lawley, Mrs. Robert H. Martin, Mrs. Frank Boston, Mrs. Carl Lewis, Mrs. W. T. Perkinson, Mrs. Robert Gregg, Mrs. Albert Walden, Mrs. Carl Brittain, Mrs. Fleming Law, Mrs. L. D. Hicks, Mrs. Thomas Daniel, Mrs. John C. Baldwin, Mrs. Dowdell Brown, Mrs. Ott Alston, Mrs. Carl Lewis, Mrs. L. H. Beall, Mrs. Robert Davis, Mrs. G.

U. S. Will Stage
Annual Auction
Here This Week

More than 650 different lots of unclaimed articles, ranging from a jack-screw to a four-volume set of Buffon's encyclopedia, are to be auctioned off Thursday at the annual "Old Hoss" sale of the Atlanta post-office. The sale, starting at 9 o'clock, is to be held at Station B, corner Forsyth and Garnett streets. Inspection may be made of goods Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 a. m. until 4:30 p. m.

Dozens of lots of the things that usually draws for Christmas, neckties, socks and handkerchiefs are listed in the prospectus sent out by the post-office. There are garden hose, automobile tires, watches, golf balls, peanuts, chewing tobacco, shotguns, overcoat bags and many volumes of reference books.

Sale is without any guarantee of quality or quantity and everything will be auctioned off "as is."

EARLY PAYMENT OF PENSIONS SEEN
BY COMMISSIONER

Hope for an early payment of the long past due third quarter pension for Confederate veterans was expressed by Colonel R. deT. Lawrence, state pension commissioner, Monday after collections of $95,904.38 of tobacco tax revenues allocated to pension purposes were announced by the state board of revenue.

The October tobacco tax returns increased the balance in the special pension fund to about $235,000, some $80,000 short of the amount necessary to pay the past due pensions. But, Colonel Lawrence said, tax collectors throughout the state have been requested to and are sending money into the state treasury.

Although he was not in possession of information upon which he could make a definite statement, Colonel Lawrence said that he hoped the pensions could be paid within the next week or two. Toward the end of the present week, he said, he would be in a better position to make an announcement.

He announced that on November 13 he filed a requisition for $325,000 with the state treasury, in order to hold any general funds coming into that department. There is an appropriation for pension purposes from the general fund which the state so far has been unable to pay. As soon as these general funds can be had, he said, the pensions can be paid.

OFFICER PROMOTED Williamson Made Colonel in Rescue Workers.

Promotion of J. T. Williamson from the rank of major in the American Rescue Workers to that of lieutenant colonel was reported Monday. Mr. Williamson has been in the organization since May 1, 1926. He came to Atlanta from Savannah as adjutant a little more than a year ago and shortly afterwards was appointed major. Colonel Williamson received word of his promotion Monday from national headquarters at Philadelphia.

MOTHER IS BADLY BURNED IN SAVING
SON FROM BLAZE

A mother's efforts here early Monday morning saved the life of her three-year-old son, but severe burns necessitated treatment at the Grady hospital for the mother, Mrs. J. J. Pierce, and Charles Pierce, the child, of 351 Pryor street, S. W.

The child's flannel nightgown caught fire from an open grate early Monday, shortly after arising for the day. His mother, who was dressing, came to his assistance and smothered the flame with her bare hands. Both mother and child received burns that necessitated treatment, but were later in the day discharged from the hospital.

SIEGFRIED TO SPEAK AT EMORY THURSDAY

Noted Political Scientist To Talk on League and U. S. of Europe.

Dr. Andre Siegfried, author and professor in the Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques at Paris, will lecture in the Emory University auditorium at 8:15 o'clock Thursday night.

Dr. Siegfried will be introduced by Robert B. Troutman, Atlanta lawyer. The lecture will be upon the subject, "The United States of Europe and the League of Nations." It is to be given under the sponsorship of the Georgia Committee on the Cause and Cure of War and the Emory Student Lecture Association.

Dr. Siegfried is the author of "America Comes of Age," written at the request of the Munroe Social as part of a series analyzing post-war conditions in the leading countries of the world. He comes to Atlanta directly after giving a lecture series in New York city and at Johns Hopkins University.

Tickets for the lecture Thursday may be secured at the Y. W. C. A. on Auburn avenue, at the office of the League of Women Voters in the Candler annex, or from Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs, chairman of the committee, at 855 Peachtree street. They are $1 to the general public and half price to members of the Georgia Committee on the Cause and Cure of War.

SUICIDE VERDICT
IN MOORE'S DEATH

A coroner's jury Monday returned a verdict that DeWitt Moore, 38, of 380 Fourteenth street, N. W., came to his "death by his own hand, while mentally deranged." Moore, a plumber, was found dead in his bedroom Sunday with a bullet through his head.

Despondency over the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. W. L. Kilpatrick, and the fact that he himself was unemployed and in failing health, are the causes of his action, it is believed by his wife. Moore is survived by his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Moore, of Covington, and two brothers, Albert and Hurt Moore.

Georgia Baptists Assemble In Gainesville for Annual Convention, Starting Today

Registration and Organization of Conference To Be Outstanding Business of Opening Session.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP) The advance guard of representatives of 400,000 Georgia Baptists began pouring into this north Georgia city today and tonight for the opening of the annual convention of the Georgia Baptist convention, which will precede the convention proper.

In addition to hotel rooms, accommodations for 600 persons have been arranged in homes here to take care of the crowd. Dr. Roland Q. Leavelle, pastor of the First Baptist church, and chairman of the local arrangements committee, announced.

Sessions will be held at the First Baptist church, which accommodates 1,200. Trains into the city this afternoon and tonight were thronged with convention visitors and hundreds of others were expected by automobile in time for the opening gavel at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. Leavelle said a stretch of 300 yards on the Atlanta-Gainesville highway had been opened to traffic after having been made passable by application of gravel and that automobilists would not have to take the muddy detour between Atlanta and Buford to get here.

On the program tonight were two meetings. Dr. J. B. W. Graham, of Hapeville, called a meeting of moderators of 88 Baptist associations in Georgia, and Dr. C. C. Cree, executive secretary, announced a meeting of the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist convention.

Registration, delegates and organization of the convention will be the outstanding business of the opening session. The president, four vice presidents, a secretary, an associate secretary and a treasurer will be selected. Dr. Bunyan Stevens, of Rome, will lead the devotional service which opens the convention. Reports on the Christian Index, the convention's publication, and on state mission work will be heard during the afternoon. Dr. B. D. Ragsdale, of Macon, will deliver the convention sermon tomorrow night.

The complete opening day program is as follows:

3:00—Devotional, Bunyan Stephens, Rome.
3:30—Enrollment and organization.
3:45—Report of committee on order of business, W. W. Gaines, Atlanta, chairman.
4:00—Recognition of denomination representatives and visitors.
4:30—Distribution of printed reports.
4:40—The Christian Index. Report of committee, Ely R. Callaway, LaGrange, chairman.
Discussions: State missions, woman's work, Sunday school work, young people's work, enlistment work, evangelism.
6:00—Miscellaneous business. Adjournment.

8:00—Devotional, Ronald C. Young, Newnan.
8:15—The Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist convention.
8:45—The convention sermon, B. D. Ragsdale, Macon, or his alternate, J. C. Wilkinson, Athens. Adjournment.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP) Mitchell Sykes, 34, was in jail at Clyde today charged with slaying a Bryan county coroner's jury which investigated the fatal wounding yesterday of his brother, Dewey, 31, near Ways Station.

According to testimony presented at the inquest Mitchell killed his brother after taking a beating at the hands of Dewey, who had forced him to pay a debt of $2.50. Mitchell claimed self-defense, saying that he fired after Dewey had disregarded his warning not to approach him again. Both were hunting and fishing along the Ogeechee river.

The wounded man died at a hospital here after being delayed en route by an automobile accident.

Four thousand men are made idle by the shutdown.

As another result of the financial crisis twelve brokers today were unable to meet their obligations. An emergency committee of bankers and brokers covered their losses to the extent of $250,000.

EIGHT DEPUTIES WILL BE TRIED AT BURNSVILLE, N. C.

MARION, N. C., Nov. 18.—(AP) Trial of eight deputy sheriffs on charges of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of six strikers in a gun fight at the gates of the Marion Manufacturing Company, October 2, will be held in Yadon county today.

Judge V. G. Cowper ruled today that Burnsville is the county seat.

Judge Cowper said he would recommend to Governor O. Max Gardner that a special term of court be called the week of December 9 for trial of the cases.

Decision to change the venue was reached Saturday when both prosecution and defense attorneys agreed a fair trial could not be obtained in McDowell county.

WOMAN TEACHER IS BADLY BEATEN IN SCHOOL CELLAR

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Nov. 18.—(AP) Beaten about the head and body and in a semi-conscious condition, Miss Clementine Keys, 20-year-old school teacher, was found in a basement in her school at Empire, near here, today.

When pupils arrived at the school this morning, the building was open but Miss Keys could not be found. Search was instituted and she was found in the basement room.

Miss Keys had received several threatening letters demanding that she resign, friends said. For two years several factions have been quarreling regarding the school. Authorities endeavored to connect the writer of the letters with the attack on the teacher.

FIREMAN FORGETS WRENCH AND THREE BUILDINGS BURN

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 18.—(AP) Bella rang. Men yelled. Sirens screamed! Pedestrians ran for their lives! Brakes screeched as a ten-ton truck thundered to a stop before a burning building!

And then: "I forgot the wrench," said Fire Mechanic W. C. Trepp, "with which to turn on the hydrant!"

Three buildings were destroyed and several more damaged before another wrench was found.

Today City Manager R. V. Orvishon had before him a request from the fire chief, Ernest F. Coop, that Fire Captain W. L. Hildreth be tried on an inefficiency charge, and that Trepp be demoted.

BRITISH CLAIM SOVIET BREAKS TREATY RULES

Secretary Says Communists Violate Propaganda Provision.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP) Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, today informed the house of commons that the laborite government regarded the propagandist activities of the communist international as clearly coming under the pledge against propaganda in the recent protocol preparatory to resumption of relations with Russia.

Sir Austen Chamberlain had brought up the question of Soviet propaganda in the house. Mr. Henderson replied that under the protocol of October 3, The Soviet government had undertaken to confirm on the day when the ambassador presented his credentials the pledge regarding propaganda contained in the treaty of 1924.

In accordance with statements by the prime minister and himself on various occasions, Mr. Henderson added, it was the government's intention to insist that the pledge thus provided for, should be observed both in letter and spirit.

Sir Austen had called attention to an article which appeared on November 5, in Izvestia, official organ of the Soviet government, in which it was stated that neither the 1924 agreement nor the 1926 protocol contained a single word relating to the communist international.

Pravda, organ of the central committee of the communist party in Moscow yesterday commented on questions in the house of commons regarding communist propaganda in the British empire. Referring to the question of the clause in the protocol concerning propaganda, the paper declared that neither the Soviet government nor Ambassador Dostoyevsky, who negotiated the agreement could assume any obligation regarding the communist international.

In the course of its article the paper said: "Henderson's arguments on the theme of organized connection between the Soviet government and the communist international are nothing but a transparent attempt to distort the meaning of the content of the Anglo-Soviet agreement."

TRIAL OF BANKER POSTPONED UNTIL LAST OF MONTH

BARTOW, Fla., Nov. 18.—(AP) Trial of John L. Fouts, charged with violating the state banking law, which originally was set for today, has been put over until November 29, it was announced today.

The case will be heard by Judge W. M. Murphy, of Orange county, who will preside over the trial in the Polk county criminal court here. He was assigned by Governor Carlton to sit in place of Judge H. C. Phillips, who disqualified himself because he was interested as attorney for depositors in one of the Fouts banks which failed.

When the case is called arguments will be heard on a plea for quashing the indictments against Fouts.

CANCELLED ORDERS CLOSE UP SHOPS OF DIAMOND MILLS

BRUSSELS, Nov. 18.—(AP) Diamond mills here and at Antwerp were closed today for what was feared would be a long period of idleness as a consequence of cancellation of the usual Christmas orders from New York and London. The cancellations are the outgrowth of the financial crisis.

Four thousand men are made idle by the shutdown.

As another result of the financial crisis twelve brokers today were unable to meet their obligations. An emergency committee of bankers and brokers covered their losses to the extent of $250,000.

EIGHT DEPUTIES WILL BE TRIED AT BURNSVILLE, N. C.

MARION, N. C., Nov. 18.—(AP) Selection of Yadon county, in which to try eight deputy sheriffs on murder charges overshadowed trial of five on insurrection and rebellion charges in McDowell superior court here today.

Judge G. V. Cowper, president, said he would recommend to Governor O. Max Gardner that a special term of court be called the week of December 9 for trial of the cases.

Frank Watson, member of defense counsel, offered numerous objections to the date, saying it would be "impossible" to hold court there with so many witnesses and others present before May or June, because of lack of heating facilities, and the intense cold. The temperature sometimes drops to 16 below zero, the attorney argued, and with only two stoves in the courtroom it would be "unbearable" he told the court. Mr. Watson indicated he would ask the governor to change the date.

Arrest of the deputies, R. L. Robbins, W. A. Fender, Dave Jarrett, Jim Owens, Charles L. Tate, Taylor Greene, William T. Wiggs and Robert Ward, resulted from the fatal wounding of six strikers in labor disturbances in Marion last month, George Jonas, Luther Bryson, Randolph Hall, Samuel T. Vickers, James Roberts and Tilden Carter, dying from wounds received when sheriff's officers clashed with the strikers.

Hendley returned to the witness stand today, after having been the only witness to testify Saturday. His testimony was principally to corroborate the statements of the other witnesses in the two mill villages, the Clinchfield and Marion Manufacturing Company plants.

Cause of the disturbance, Hendley testified, was an attempt by the sheriff and his deputies to return to a mill house the furniture of a strike breaker that strikers are said to have moved out.

Court was held more than 30 minutes to allow arguments as to the admissibility of evidence. Prosecution attorneys were attempting to introduce statements made in a speech by Hoffman, which they said were inflammatory. Judge Cowper ruled that the statements would be allowed against Hoffman and Hogan, but not against Hoffman.

The annual convention of the sales force of the southern division of the Synthetic Nitrogen Products Corporation, of which Dr. A. M. Smith, of Atlanta, is southern agricultural director and southern sales manager, will be concluded at the Biltmore hotel today.

This convention began in Atlanta on Saturday and has continued up to the meeting of the National Fertilizer Association convention, which begins at the Biltmore hotel this morning.

Dr. Smith called this convention for the purpose of studying the market conditions in the southeast, and devising ways and means of giving better service on synthetic nitrogen fertilizer materials.

While most of the time has been spent in business conferences, social side has not been neglected. Dr. Smith entertained at luncheon at the Capital City Club for this group on Sunday.

Since the location of the southern headquarters of this company in Atlanta, the field force has been augmented and extended, and now covers all of the southeast from Virginia to Texas.

Those attending this convention and also Dr. Smith's luncheon were: C. B. Peters, president; S. B. Haskell, agricultural director; S. G. Tinsley, sales manager; and O. B. Briggs, advertising manager, all of New York; J. L. Heilig and C. H. Moody, covering North and South Carolina; L. G. Porter, W. D. Barton, and J. E. Culpepper, covering Georgia and Alabama; W. H. Wilson, Mississippi and Arkansas; A. J. Pearce, Florida; and L. P. Foster and L. V. Davis, Texas and Arkansas.

To board a street car near his home in Macon, were conducted in the city cemetery here this morning.

Mr. Middlebrooks was a native of Sparta and had lived here up until two years ago when he went to Macon to accept a position with the Central Railroad.

He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Julia Middlebrooks; a sister, Miss Ethel Middlebrooks; and four brothers, Foster and Leon Middlebrooks, of Sparta, Ralph Middlebrooks, of Macon, and E. Middlebrooks, of Brockton, Tenn.

GYPSY IS SHOT DURING QUARREL WITH FARMER

WAYCROSS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(Special)—Nicholas Adams, gypsy, is in a local hospital suffering from gunshot wounds, and Ellis Edfield, Ware county farmer, is in the county jail following an altercation between the two on the Waycross-Alma highway last yesterday.

According to officers here, the gypsy with his wife and four children, had stopped in an auto beside the highway about 12 miles north of Waycross to fix a punctured tire. It is said that the gypsy and his wife were quarreling when Edfield attempted to intervene. An argument between the gypsy and Edfield is said to have resulted in the shooting. Adams was shot through the stomach.

ific formula, they continue the treatment for its wonderful, strengthening value. It is wise to profit by the experience of others and Sargon has won a veritable army of friends who, out of pure gratitude, are glad to tell of the splendid results they received from this celebrated medicine. Read the following statement made by Mrs. W. E. Hope, 955 Niles avenue, Atlanta, who recently said:

"Before I started taking Sargon I was terribly run down and weighed only a hundred and fifteen pounds. Now I weigh a hundred and twenty-seven—a gain of twelve pounds—and I'm stronger and better in every way than I've been in years."

"My health gave away after my last child was born, two years ago. My nervous system became so upset that at times I was almost hysterical and a good night's sleep was out of the question. I was bothered with constipation and my liver must have been awfully inactive, because I had brown spots all over my face and the rest of my skin was as yellow as a pumpkin. Headaches added to my misery and dizzy spells came over me at times until I'd have to sit down to keep from falling. I was terribly weak anyway and for weeks at a time I never went in my kitchen or attempted to do any housework. One day Mr. L. L. Strickland, of the Georgia Power Co., a friend of my husband, told him of the wonderful results he had from Sargon and advised him to buy a treatment for me."

"This marvelous medicine filled me with new strength and energy right from the start! Why, I can stir around the kitchen now and for the first time in years I'm able to look after my housework. My nerves are better and I sleep so soundly I'm sometimes afraid I won't hear the alarm clock in the morning."

"Sargon Softener Pills toned up my liver and overcame my constipation without upsetting me in the least. I no longer have headaches or dizzy spells and my skin is free from spots and that unhealthy color I used to have. I'm telling all my friends about the wonderful results I got from this splendid treatment."

Go to Jacobs' Main Store, 14 Marietta street, and meet the Sargon Man. He will give you the astonishing facts about this wonderful new medicine which is accomplishing such remarkable results all over the country. The astonishing record of Sargon is based on concrete results accomplished; not empty promises. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta—adv.

ALL 13TH WARD CANDIDATES ASKED TO CLUB MEETING

All candidates in the race for office, created by the thirteenth ward, have been invited to be present at the monthly meeting of the Tenth Ward Citizens' Club, to be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the club rooms upon the corner of Stewart avenue and Pearce street.

The club is slated to make brief speeches, and it is urged by J. R. Curtis, president of the club, that all members be present and hear them.

13-YEAR-OLD GIRL COMMITS SUICIDE AFTER SPANKING

HAMILTON, Ohio, Nov. 18.—(AP) Jane Letley, 13-year-old schoolgirl, died in a hospital here today as a result of shooting herself in the heart last night soon after her father spanked her.

The girl told her father she was going to visit a neighborly lady and in a semi-conscious condition, Miss Clementine Keys, 20-year-old school teacher, was found in a basement in her school at Empire, near here, today.

When pupils arrived at the school this morning, the building was open but Miss Keys could not be found. Search was instituted and she was found in the basement room.

Miss Keys had received several threatening letters demanding that she resign, friends said. For two years several factions have been quarreling regarding the school. Authorities endeavored to connect the writer of the letters with the attack on the teacher.

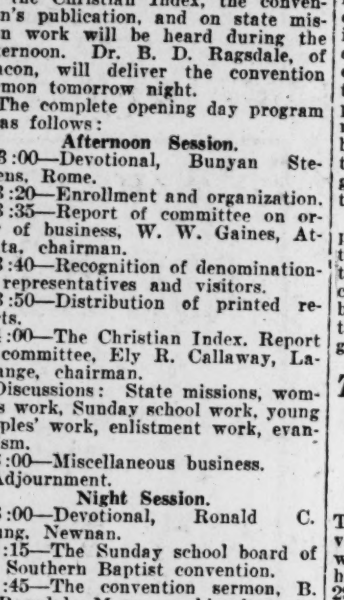

FIREMAN FORGETS WRENCH AND THREE BUILDINGS BURN

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 18.—(AP) Bella rang. Men yelled. Sirens screamed! Pedestrians ran for their lives! Brakes screeched as a ten-ton truck thundered to a stop before a burning building!

Three buildings were destroyed and several more damaged before another wrench was found.

Today City Manager R. V. Orvishon had before him a request from the fire chief, Ernest F. Coop, that Fire Captain W. L. Hildreth be tried on an inefficiency charge, and that Trepp be demoted.

ARMY FLYING OFFICER ASSIGNED TO AIRPORT

Lieut. R. B. Brown Will Co-operate With Civilian Aviators.

Assignment of Lieutenant Raymond R. Brown, of the army air service to the Fourth Corps area headquarters here, constituting the second air officer to be attached to the corps area in Atlanta and filling the vacancy left by Colonel Charles H. Danforth more than one and one-half years ago, was announced today as one of the most important of recent developments in forwarding the co-operation of army, commercial and civilian aviation interests in the city. Announcement of the assignment was made by Major General Frank R. McCoy, commanding officer of the corps area, when he addressed the Aero Club of Atlanta at its weekly meeting Monday.

General McCoy, whose recent assumption of command of the military area here is his latest step in an eventful military career of many important assignments, was the guest of honor of the Aero Club. In his talk he told of the development of aviation, particularly as an aid in promoting army efficiency and facilitating important governmental tasks in time of peace. These aspects of aviation were illustrated by the general in relating incidents in connection with the Nicaraguan political difficulties, where he was sent as President Coolidge's personal representative, and in the boundary settlement of Bolivia and Paraguay.

General McCoy was introduced by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the Georgia School of Technology. Prior to the address the club formally approved action of its directors in changing the name of the group from the Atlanta Chapter of the National Aeronautic Association to the Aero Club of Atlanta. Among the special guests at Monday's session were Colonel Duncan K. Major, Jr., chief of staff for the corps area, and Major G. H. Franks, corps area publicity officer. President Jesse Draper presided at the luncheon.

In mentioning the assignment of any army air officer for this area, General McCoy said that Lieutenant Brown would be stationed here with a plane at Candler field, and besides serving in advisory capacity to corps area headquarters, the new air officer would be available for co-operation with local aviation organizations and interests.

Lieutenant Brown is now serving his design duty term stationed in Hawaii. According to information available here, Lieutenant Brown's assignment becomes effective upon the expiration of his foreign duty term, which will be in January, 1930. It will probably be a month or two later before he reports for duty in Atlanta.

Lieutenant Brown is a native of Indiana. He was appointed to the air service in Florida, January, 1918, as private in the aviation unit of the signal corps. In July, 1920, he received his commission and was promoted to first lieutenant at the same time.

Council Offers Aid.

City council Monday afternoon offered the federal government every co-operation in its announced intention to re-establish an aviation corps in connection with the regular army training now offered at Fort McPherson.

Councilman Tom Smith, of the 12th ward, and chairman of the aviation committee, presented the measure.

A fund of $150 also was voted to pay Mr. Smith's way to Washington to present Atlanta's claims to further proposed extension of air mail service throughout this territory.

EDWARD L. TRAYNHAM, LUMBERMAN, IS DEAD

Following an illness of about six months, Edward Lee Traynham, 41 years old, president of the Ewing-Traynham Lumber Company, died at his home, 3804 Peachtree road, Monday morning. Funeral services will be at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at the residence.

Mr. Traynham was born and reared in Atlanta and had been in the lumber business here since his graduation from the University of Georgia at the age of 21. He began his business life with the Traynham Lumber Company, operated by his father, W. L. Traynham. After the death of this parent he journeyed to south Georgia and engaged in lumber trade there for ten years, returning here five years ago to organize the Ewing-Traynham Lumber Company.

He married Miss Jane Gwinn, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gwinn, of Atlanta.

Mr. Traynham was a prominent member of the St. Mark's Methodist church and following the services at his home Wednesday morning he will be laid to rest in the West View cemetery. He is survived by his wife; his mother, Mrs. Sara Ivy Traynham; a daughter, Miss Sarah Traynham; a son, Edward Lee Traynham, Jr.; three sisters, Mrs. H. Eugene Hancock, Miss Lillian Traynham and Mrs. Van Bolt Hall, and three brothers, William B. Herbert, E. and W. Lawrence Traynham.

CENSUS BUREAU CONFERENCE HERE SET FOR NOV. 27

Announcement that the commerce department census advisory committee would conduct in co-operation with the census bureau a series of regional conferences as an effective means to acquaint businessmen and citizens generally with the importance of the coming decennial census and to obtain national co-operation in making the work successful, was contained in a telegram received by the Atlanta district office.

These conferences will be held in key cities from coast to coast and Atlanta has been selected as the central point for one of these meetings, which will be November 27, at the Biltmore hotel. Business men within a radius of approximately 100 miles around Atlanta will be invited to attend. According to present plans similar conferences will be held at Philadelphia, November 25; Detroit, November 29; Buffalo, November 30; Pittsburgh, December 2; Cleveland, December 4; Chicago, December 5; New Orleans, December 7; Dallas, December 9; St. Louis, December 11; Omaha, December 12; Denver, December 14; Seattle, December 17; San Francisco, December 19; Los Angeles, December 20, and the final meeting at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, January 4.

SEWING MACHINE COMPANY LOCATES OFFICE IN ATLANTA

The Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Co., of Baltimore, Md., has located an office in Atlanta to cover the surrounding territory and the southeast. Raymond G. Dellman, formerly of Baltimore, has been branch manager and will maintain offices at 306 Candler building.

J. Harry Grace, manager of the Baltimore plant, says in referring to Atlanta, "Because of the growth of our business in the south, it became necessary for us to cast about for a suitable location, and the final choice was Atlanta. After consideration we decided that Atlanta would be most advantageous to the territory we desired to cover."

"After studying the geographical location of Atlanta, we found we could adjust our territorial boundaries in such a manner that by placing our office in Atlanta we could serve a radius of 100 miles from Atlanta and thus give our customers a service at least 100 per cent more efficient than by continuing the effort to serve them from Baltimore."

Textile Machinery Dealer Establishes Offices in Atlanta

Wilson Company, Inc., dealer in textile machinery and supplies, has opened offices at 520 Atlanta Trust Company building, it is announced by C. T. Murphy, president, of Union, S. C. The company will operate in Alabama, North and South Carolina, and parts of Virginia and Tennessee, in addition to this state.

The company was incorporated recently with a capital stock of $10,000, with the right to increase it to $100,000. The incorporators are: M. M. Akers, who will be secretary and treasurer; T. A. Dickson, and M. Murphy. W. Lindsay Wilson is sales manager. Former Governor Clifford Walker is associated with the company as attorney.

STATISTICAL EXPERT SEES BUILDING BOOM

Activity To Center on Homes, Dodge Corporation Head Says.

That the nation is on the verge of one of its biggest home-building years was indicated in a statement made by Truman S. Morgan, of New York, president of the F. W. Dodge Corporation, who stopped in Atlanta Monday, returning from the convention of the American Institute of Steel Construction at Biloxi, Miss.

As head of the Dodge corporation, which gathers and publishes statistics of the building industry in America, Mr. Morgan is closely in touch with construction, financing and industrial building situation. He left Atlanta Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Morgan, for Washington, where he will attend the business conferences called by President Hoover, particularly those dealing with the building industries.

In his remarks here Mr. Morgan pointed out that the country had been on the way to a normally good year in the field of home-building and small construction developments and that recent developments indicated the direction of still further efforts into this field. Mr. Morgan touched on the effect the drastic stock market condition would have on the construction and other industries.

"Just before the big crash our statistician had been called upon to prepare some data of the building industry and to include a forecast of that industry for the coming year," the visiting president of Dodge corporation stated. "His prediction was that home-building would be as good as it was last year, while industrial construction would be far in excess of that of the building industry last year. I believe the unusual financial developments of the past month will necessitate a revision of this forecast."

"Financing of industrial developments will not be as readily accomplished now, while on the other hand more money will be freed for investment in home-building," Mr. Morgan asserted. This may result in two favorable conditions, Mr. Morgan indicated. Besides the increased residential activity and the greater number of investments in small building undertakings—a condition which is always healthful—the check on the wild growth of new industries should promote improved conditions among the established industries, the Dodge official said.

"One of the most significant features of the stock market decline was that it had no connection with business depression; as a matter of fact the business condition of the country today is as good as it ever has been," Mr. Morgan explained.

HARRY F. GUGGENHEIM IN CUBA TO TAKE POST

New American Envoy and Wife Arrive in Plane
From Key West.

HAVANA, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Harry F. Guggenheim, new American ambassador to Cuba, arrived in Havana today aboard a specially chartered plane of the Pan-American Airways, to take up the post left vacant by the resignation of Colonel Noble Brandon Judah early last summer.

Ambassador Guggenheim, accompanied by Mrs. Guggenheim and their two secretaries, made the flight from Key West, Fla., to Cuba in 67 minutes. They were received at the field by C. C. Curtis, charge d'affaires of the American embassy, and other officials. Colonel Julio Sanguily, commander of Cuban army aviation, headed a group of Cuban officials who were present to greet them.

Ambassador Guggenheim told the press he would have no public statements to make until after he had presented his credentials to President Machado, which he expected to do early next week.

"I visited Cuba some 20 years ago and was deeply impressed with the country and people. It was my desire at that time to return and know Cuba and its people. Consequently, it is extremely gratifying to me to return here after a long absence for it is a realization of my hopes."

Mr. Guggenheim lost little time getting down to work. After a short lunch at the hotel where he and Mrs. Guggenheim will stop the ambassador went to the embassy for a conference with the staff.

The arrival of the Guggenheims is expected to open the winter social season formally. Numerous social functions already arranged in their honor will be held this month.

It was indicated this afternoon that courtesy calls will be exchanged tomorrow or the next day between Ambassador Guggenheim, the Cuban state department, the presidential palace and the foreign diplomatic corps accredited to Cuba.

HEFLIN AROUSED OVER COTTONSEED PRICE SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Accusing cotton crushers of combining to hold down prices paid farmers for cottonseed, Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, said in the senate today he would seek prosecution by the justice department and provide names of those believed responsible.

Referring to his resolution adopted recently by the senate which called upon the federal trade commission to investigate the alleged combination, Hefflin said since that time the price of cottonseed in Texas had advanced to $43 a ton but that it was only $29 or $30 in Alabama and $27 in South Carolina.

He said that if solution of the problem required putting some of the alleged offenders into the penitentiary he was in favor of prosecuting them and putting them there.

Asserting that "this robber band" buys the cottonseed at prices below the cost of production, Hefflin added that the government owes to the producer the duty of "lifting these parasites off of him and taking this band of wolves off of his trail."

FORMER FEDERAL ATTORNEY DENIES NARCOTIC CHARGE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 18.—(AP)—R. A. Hubler, former assistant United States district attorney, pleaded not guilty to a charge of narcotic law violation when arraigned in federal court here today. He has been in jail since his arrest several months ago for alleged sale of narcotics. His trial probably will be heard Wednesday.

Several score of defendants appeared in court today to face trial, mostly on liquor and narcotic law violation charges.

The case of Charlie Perry of St. Augustine, charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, was continued for the present term of court.

Judge Alexander Akerman, of Tampa, is on the bench during the absence of Judge Lake Jones, who is presiding at Tampa during trial of several cases in which Judge Akerman was disqualified.

'29 'Compulsory' Convention Of Fertilizers Under Way

L. W. Rowell, (right) president of the National Fertilizer Association, who will deliver the opening address of the fifth annual southern convention of the national association here today and Ward H. Sachs, (left) of Atlanta, soil improvement director who addressed the convention directors Monday.

The fifth annual "compulsory" Atlanta convention of the National Fertilizer Association opened its business sessions Monday morning with a meeting of the board of directors, in the Baltimore hotel.

According to a bylaw of the organization, a meeting of the members must be held in Atlanta every fall, irrespective of where the customary yearly convention is held. This regulation in part is due to the importance of Atlanta as a distributing center, this city being the world's third largest complete fertilizer plant. Georgia ranks second among the states in its consumption of soil-food, 800,000 tons of which are used here every year.

Plans for future work, and reports of recent activities were made by the soil improvement committee, which was addressed by H. R. Smalley, Charles J. Brand, and Ward H. Sachs. The discussion was followed by a meeting of the directors, who determined upon Colorado Springs as a location for the next annual convention. Since this is the first meeting to be held west of the Mississippi, it is regarded as an indication of the westward trend in the industry.

Mr. Smalley, director of the soil improvement work of the association, made a brief oral report concerning a projected educational campaign among 60,000 fertilizer dealers. A direct-by-mail circulation of sound information concerning the use of soil-food will be based upon a recent survey made by the association among 48,000 farmers. In the investigation, 66 per cent stated that most of their help and advice in the choice of fertilizers was given by the dealers themselves, and not by county agents, farm papers, or agricultural colleges. Education for the dealer will thus be extremely valuable for the consumer.

In the report of Mr. Sachs, assistant director of soil improvement, it was announced that farmers in most of the southern states are using less than half the amount of plant food recommended by the experiment stations for various crops. He outlined briefly the activities of the association to bring about the needed increase in consumption, and the more efficient use of commercial plant and soil nourishment, and summarized the experimental work of southern stations in this field. Mr. Brand, the executive secretary and treasurer of the organization, gave a talk on the recent New England limestone conference.

Today's business will be largely concerned with plans for policing the fertilizer industry and enforcing trade practices and regulations. The theme of the general session, which convenes at 10 o'clock, is "Working for the Common Good." Addresses will be given by L. W. Howell, president of the association, Mr. Smalley, and Mr. Sachs. The day's program will be concluded by a dinner at 7:30 p. m., at which Charles J. Brand and E. St. Elmo Lewis will be the principal speakers. Wednesday will be taken up with a round-table discussion of industry problems.

Oldest Married Couple Observe 78th Anniversary

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Expressing opposition to companionate marriage, divorce, bobbed hair, short skirts, prohibition and petting parties, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Blackmar, believed to be the oldest married couple in the world, observed their seventy-eighth wedding anniversary.

The husband, who has lived an even century, and the wife, who is two years junior, look forward to several years more companionship. Mr. Blackmar said that to be happily married a young man must be judicious in his selection of a wife, know the young lady well and form a correct judgment of her and then after marriage keep in the narrow path prescribed in vows taken at the altar.

Mrs. Blackmar advised the young woman about to be married to be "influenced only in her choice of a husband by her love and respect for him. A marriage for money or position in life doesn't bring happiness. A woman must regard, love and respect her husband if she is to contribute her share to marital bliss."

The aged wife believes it "makes no difference whether the word 'obey' is left in the marriage ceremony. A woman will do as she pleases about obeying her husband anyway."

As for companionate marriage and other "evils" of the jazz age, both were agreed these things would "wear themselves out before long."

From 6 to 6:30 p. m. tonight a message from the couple was broadcast from radio station WDAF, Kansas City.

BITTER WEATHER BLANKETS FATE OF 9 IN ARCTIC

SEATTLE, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The far north today had dropped its blanket of ice and bitter weather over the fate of nine persons marooned on the Swenson Fur Trading Company's ship Nanuk and the soviet ship Stavropol, locked in the ice at North Cape, Siberia, and the pilots of two airplanes missing in Alaska and on the Siberian coast.

The two pilots, Frank Dorbrandt and Carl Ben Eielson, were engaged in attempts to rescue those aboard the Nanuk and the Stavropol when the bleak wastes of the Bering straits region wrapped them in their silence.

One trip to the ice-locked ships was made by each pilot, in which six passengers and some furs were removed from the Nanuk to Nome, Alaska. When they attempted to return to North Cape they were forced down by storms which have been raging for several days over that area.

Dorbrandt was reported to have landed at Telle, Alaska, a week ago. Other fliers believe Eielson probably landed somewhere in the vicinity of North Cape on the Siberian coast.

Among those on the Nanuk are Olaf Swenson, head of the trading company which owns the Nanuk, and his daughter, Marion.

FRANCIS WARREN, DEAN OF SENATE, ILL AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Senator Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming, the "dean" of the senate, is ill here with an attack of bronchitis, approaching pneumonia.

The senator has not been in good health for a week or so. Recently he has been absent from the senate and today his friends learned that his illness was more serious than was at first realized.

His physicians today reported that he had "slightly improved."

SLAYER OF TEACHER ADMITS FOUR WIVES

Wedded Three During Last 15 Years, Divorcing
But One.

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Sheriff's officers announced here today that Ira Kirk, 30, who confessed Saturday that he slew Clara Boke, 30, a San Francisco school-teacher, because of her refusal to wed him, admitted today that he had been married to four women in the last 15 years and legally separated from only one.

As disclosed by Sheriff J. M. McGrath, Kirk's admissions follow:

In 1915, married Miss Ethel Cherry, at Breckenridge, Texas. She divorced him later for misconduct.

In 1924, married Miss Ethel Stone-man at Breckenridge, and deserted her a few months later.

In 1925, married Miss Ethel Stewart at Amarillo, Texas, deserting her within a few months.

In 1929, during his courtship of Clara Boke, married Miss Marie Lee at Yuma, Ariz., deserted her in August and filed suit for annulment in September.

J. T. Summerville, San Francisco attorney, revealed that Kirk retained him to bring annulment action last September in connection with his last marriage. As ground, Summerville told police, Kirk declared he was insane at the time of the ceremony and produced records to show he previously had been confined in an asylum.

Kirk was unable to provide information as to the present whereabouts of the four women.

"I just loved them and left them," police quoted him as saying.

The slain young woman was a graduate of the University of Chicago.

GENERAL PERSHING RETURNS TO U. S. FROM FRANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing returned to the United States today on the Leviathan after eight months abroad. He spent part of the time in France with the battle monuments commission, of which he is chairman, and worked upon his memoirs.

General Pershing planned to leave for Washington during the day to make his official report upon the progress of the American memorials in France.

CHICAGO HOME OF RICH BROKER SCENE OF THEFT

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Gold Coast apartment of William A. Gardner, retired stock broker, was robbed yesterday of jewelry and other valuables worth more than $18,000. The loss was discovered late last night upon the return of Mrs. Gardner and daughter, Mary, from a week-end trip. Mr. Gardner was in New York.

The jewelry stolen was given to Mrs. Gardner at the time of her marriage 30 years ago and had been taken out of a bank vault a week ago for wear at the opera.

If you are NOT yourself

Are you being denied the happiness that is due you in life? It is easy to abuse our golden life-given body, but Nature has a way of signaling danger. If needed, graver troubles may be avoided. That tired, exhausted feeling, lack of appetite, aches and pains, flabby flesh, skin troubles—all speak of a body weakness—a lack of the normal count of red-blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

So, if you are not yourself, look to the red-blood-cells to give you sturdy health.

Every normal person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles to the cubic millimeter—those vitalizing, tiny red-cells which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people

It helps Nature increase the red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building.

S.S.S. will not work wonders over night—no restorative medicine can do that—but, be assured, that when taken according to directions full and satisfactory benefit will usually ensue.

S.S.S. is time-tested and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs, gathered at the proper season of the year. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take. You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It is on sale at all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Rialto Preview

Mixes Laughter With Eugenics

Whew! "The Very Idea." This picture, a comedy bombshell on the delicate subject of eugenics, was shown in preview at the Rialto Monday morning, and is to be the feature attraction there next week. If you want to sit on the edge of your seat for the first half of a picture, in fear of what every moment will reveal, and then sink back into side-splitting hysterics for the rest of the film, don't fail to see it.

Eugenic ideas in the movie, an RICO production, are based on the notion of "human thorobreds." A childless, but child-loving couple is persuaded by a eugenic crank to pay two perfect physical specimens $15,000 to produce a child, which the un-blessed benedicta can adopt, and pass off as their own. Great relief will be experienced by the audience when the maid and chauffeur, who are the two specimens in question, decide to get married.

The childless couple vanish to California for a year, and upon their return to dear old Gotham, invite their friends to see the baby which the maid and chauffeur are to turn over to them. In their eagerness, they forget to inquire whether the baby is a girl or a boy, and are hence unable to talk intelligently about their alleged offspring.

To be sure, at the critical moment, the maid won't give up the little darling, and a thousand riotously amusing complications ensue. The comedy is climaxed by a happy, and altogether unlooked-for ending.

As a light, and somewhat risqué farce, this photoplay is excellent, and some scenes in it are screamingly funny. The screwamishly-minded, and those lacking a good sense of humor may justly raise their eyebrows in disapproval, but, for most others, "The Very Idea" should provide an hour's entertainment.

It is an unusual story, leading to a not at all unusual ending. The story is of the love of an actress for a happy-go-lucky gambler. That the curtain scene finds the man the picture-heroina loves branded as a liar and a crook is not in the recognized order. Were it not that the promise of happiness is given through a second man lingering in the background the show would bear the stamp of tragedy.

Colleen is "Mademoiselle Fifi" of the Broadway stage. She is supported by Raymond Hackett and Frederick March, both of whom do creditable work in the picture.

There are several extravagant color scenes taken from the review of which Mademoiselle Fifi is the principal attraction. Colleen, arrayed in all the grandeur that was Ziegfeld's and is now Hollywood's, regales her audience—she has a large one—with songs in lisp French. Between acts she is American, of Irish extraction. And all the time, through the entire show, she is a splendid success.

NOVEL FEATURES OFFERED AT CAMEO IN VACATION PLAY

Novel plot twists and treatment contribute much to an excellent entertainment supplied by Dorothy Mackail and Jack Mulhall in their latest First National-Vitaphone production, "Two Weeks Off," the current film at the Cameo.

Dorothy and her department-store co-worker, Gertrude Astor, prepare for a beach vacation, and after escaping many humorous hazards at the start, land there in the rain.

Mulhall, meanwhile, has arrived with his plumber's kit to fix the sink and, during the vacation, decided to spend his two weeks there, too. He is mistaken for a movie star, rescues the heroine from the dull company of a lily-white girl in general stir up things for everybody.

At the Rialto.

"RACKETEER," an all-talking play of New York's underworld, featuring Robert Armstrong and Carol Lombard, features the real, colorful garden flowers and phonograph of marionettes. Shows at 11:00, 12:42, 2:24, 4:06, 5:48, 7:30 and 9:12.

Scarface Al Capone might have been called in to have given Mr. Armstrong a few lessons about the finer points of racketeering, but Mr. Capone, doubtless, would prove less the romantic lover.

"Racketeer" is the story of a fascinating woman who sways a millionaire sportsman husband for a slipping artist. She cheats at cards to get money with which to help him back to health and his beloved public. Armstrong, as the racketeer who had detected the card thief, sends the couple to his Long Island home. Back in form, the violinist husband quits the wife, played by Carol Lombard, and she accepts a proposal from the king of night club life.

An almost forgotten order to "bump off" a rival gang leader is executed on the night the couple are to sail for Paris. Meantime, the temperamental second husband's love flowers afresh. A valet squeals and the racketeer is shot in a gun battle with police.

Moving slowly at times, "Racketeer" is only fairly entertaining. It is no particular credit to the talkies. —R. E. POWELL.

At the Georgia.

"IS EVERYBODY HAPPY?" a Warner Brothers Vitaphone production featuring Ted Lewis, Ann Pennington and Al Jolson, starts at 1:30, 7:30 and 10:10 o'clock. The stage show at 8:30 o'clock.

Should it fall to our lot to give a word of advice where it is not in the least sought we would say, "Mr. Jolson look to your laurels, to say nothing of those box office receipts." And this admonition because Ted Lewis has succumbed, with little struggle, we hazard, to the lure of the ubiquitous talkie.

He has arrived with all his equipment, save only the resplendent cape, in "Is Everybody Happy?" And if everybody isn't it is because everybody doesn't have this writer's taste for real, toe-tickling, lowdown-and-mean modern music. While others have tried with varying degrees of success, Mr. Lewis has succeeded. He has made a real-sure-enough synopsized sheet of what has been heretofore largely a crackling canvas.

There is a story, of course, but happily contrived for the sole purpose of giving Ted and his band a chance to show their wares. An old musician with many high ideals but little ready cash brings his wife and son to America for the much press-agented opportunity. Finding no sale for old masters but plenty of demand for young masters-of-ceremonies, Ted takes up the hated jazz. Father finds out. Heartbreak, stormy scene, mean words, broken lives, all of which get mended when Ted is knocking off fabulous sums as Broadway's darling.

On the propelling end of dramatic lines Lewis is pretty wooden but when he attaches himself to the working mechanism of that worn old cliche or croons one of those tear-in-the-voice ballads—who cares? And, he does it often enough to make you forget the action.

Young Mr. Hemmings' stage show is just like some several others of its ilk. No better, no worse. Some dances, some songs. If you liked the others you'll like this. Elocution by Leo and strong man acts by comedians only variations.

Thomas Fuller Gets Place Made Vacant by Death of H. A. Coles.

Thomas Fuller, well-known manager of the Westinghouse branch office at Charlotte, N. C., has been appointed district manager of the southeast territory of the Westinghouse

THOMAS FULLER.

Company, filling the position left vacant by the recent death of H. A. Coles.

Mr. Fuller is a native of Charleston, S. C. He received his preliminary education at Porter Military academy, of that city, and later entered the Georgia School of Technology.

After graduating from that institution in 1906, he entered the employ of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, East Pittsburgh.

After spending several years at East Pittsburgh he was transferred to Atlanta as a salesman. In the course of time he was promoted to section manager and about four years ago he was made branch manager, located at Charlotte.

Mr. Fuller is a member of the Capital City Club of Atlanta, the Charlotte Country Club, and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Mr. Fuller will direct the activities of the Westinghouse organization in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, central Tennessee, southern Mississippi and the entire state of Louisiana. His headquarters will be in the Westinghouse offices at Atlanta.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MISS LEONE WALKER TO MAKE DEBUT DECEMBER 18

Brilliant Ball To Introduce Debutante at Driving Club

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Freeman have chosen Wednesday evening, December 18, for the debut ball of their sister, Miss Leone Walker, at which they will introduce the charming debutante to 400 members of Atlanta's fashionable society at the Piedmont Driving Club. Miss Walker, who is affectionately called "Boots" by her wide circle of close friends, is numbered among the most popular members of Atlanta's 1929-30 Debutante Club and is enjoying extreme popularity during her debutante season. Innumerable social galleys are being given in her honor and at the social club's brilliant social functions she has been an admired figure.

Miss Walker is a representative of prominent southern families, her parents being Leon Walker and the late Mrs. Walker. The debutante's mother was before her marriage Miss Ruby Byington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Byington, who were numbered among Georgia's leading pioneers. Mrs. Walker was a beloved member of Atlanta's social, civic and cultural circles, and from her lovely mother the debutante daughter has inherited much personal charm and gracious manner. Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Charles Morrow Brazelton, of Waco, Texas, two prominent southern matrons, are the debutante's sisters.

Miss Walker is a graduate of Washington seminary, where she made an enviable record, having been president of her class during her sophomore and senior years. Her senior year was also marked by the election of Miss Walker as vice president of the Phi Pi Sorority, of which she is a popular member. Miss Walker completed her education at Holton Arms in Washington, D. C., where she also was a fete belle.

Miss Elfrida Barrow, attractive debutante daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Craig Barrow, of Savannah, and Miss Frances Bredon, of St. Louis, who was a classmate of Miss Walker's at Holton Arms, will arrive the middle of December for a visit to the lovely debutante, at which time the visitors and hostess will be the recipients of innumerable parties.

Miss Rebecca Tatum Weds Mr. Brotherton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Thompson, Jr., announce the marriage of their sister, Miss Rebecca Tatum, to William H. Brotherton, of Atlanta, the ceremony having taken place Saturday, November 9, in Gadsden, Ala., at the home of Mrs. H. L. Heard.

Miss Kline Weds Mr. Rioux in Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18.—The marriage of Miss Evelyn Gertrude Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Kline, and Henry Grant Rioux, of Atlanta, son of Mrs. H. E. Rioux, of Philadelphia, and the late Captain H. E. Rioux, took place last evening at 9 o'clock at Trinity Methodist church.

Miss Leigh To Wed Mr. Graves in London.

The London Times of recent date carried the following announcement: "A marriage has been arranged between Charles, fifth son of Alfred Percival Graves, of Erima, Harlech, North Wales, and Margaret Ethel (Peggy), only daughter of the Honorable Rowland and Mrs. Leigh, of 28 Upper Berkeley street, W." The wedding will take place at St. Margaret's chapel, Westminster, on the morning of Tuesday, December 17.

Miss Leigh To Wed Mr. Graves in London.

After the ceremony Lord and Lady Leigh, uncle and aunt of Miss Leigh, will entertain the wedding guests at their Grosvenor Square residence. Lord Leigh has been turned over to the bride and groom for their honeymoon. Stoneleigh abbey, his historic place in Warwickshire, near Kenilworth. After a trip to the south of France, Mr. and Mrs. Graves will make their home at the handsome residence of Mr. Graves, 80 Gloucester place, London.

Epworth Class To Present Play.

Friday evening, November 22, at 8 o'clock, in the Mary Lin school auditorium the Epworth League and Workers' class of Epworth Methodist church will present the play, "Much Ado About Betty." This is a three-act comedy full of excitement, thrills and laughter, dealing with a movie star, loss of memory, railroad accident, elopement and various entanglements which finally unravel satisfactorily. The leading part is taken by Miss Harriet Harper, who plays opposite Cleveland McKnight. Other characters are Mrs. Elizabeth Fuller, Misses Sarah Lee Potts, Nelle Walton, Mildred Kennerley, Maude Jones, Messrs. Grover Martin, Louis Mewburn, Columbus Jones, Carl Dodds. The comedy features are furnished by Messrs. Ed Davidson, Lamar Martin, Professor Lewis, Miss Gene Dodds, Miss Dorothy Potts. They will keep you laughing. The play is directed by Mrs. Blanche Strickland. The public is invited, and the admission is 25 cents.

Habersham D.A.R. Sponsors Georgia Products Dinner

Thursday, December 12, is the date set for the annual Georgia products dinner to be sponsored by the Joseph Habersham Chapter, D. A. R., at 6:30 o'clock in the evening in the banquet hall of the chapter house. Plans for the dinner were outlined at the chapter meeting held last Friday at the chapter house, which was presided over by Mrs. T. J. Ripley, vice president in the absence of Mrs. A. Colcord, regent.

The program, which preceded the business included a salute to the flag, led by Miss Marianne McClellan, after which Mrs. Walter Scott Askew, chairman of entertainment, introduced Mrs. Joe McMillin, who rendered several songs accompanied by Mrs. Bonita Crowe, who also gave a piano selection. Colonel James A. Perry made an impressive address, urging the members to use their influence with the 170,000 daughters of the national organization to lend their power to a permanent international peace and to have America's laws so made as to render illegal the amalgamation of the races so shamefully prevalent in certain parts of our country.

Decatur Presbyterian Circle Plans Tea.

The circle of which Mrs. J. C. Norton is chairman in the Decatur Presbyterian church is planning a silver tea Thursday, November 21, at 3 o'clock, in the lounge of the Columbia Theological seminary. Mrs. Lewis King, who is an unusually talented and attractive young woman, will give the program of the afternoon, which will be a reading of her own poems, many of which she has set to music herself. Mrs. King plays and sings her own compositions in a most charming and enjoyable manner, and invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Junior Hadassah Plans Cabaret.

Atlanta Chapter of Junior Hadassah will entertain its members with a "Manless Cabaret," given Wednesday, November 20, at 8 o'clock at the Jewish Educational Alliance. The membership committee, as well as Misses Polly Gershon and Lee Rittenbaum, co-chairmen, are exerting every effort to make this an outstanding affair. The program arranged for the members will include Misses Katherine Boswell, known to radioland as "The Sunshine Girl," Frances Lee Coppick, Benah Levin, Elsie Rudderman, Freda Swerdlin, and several dance novelties from the Nellie Sullivan School of Dancing. The music will be furnished by the Melody Masters, and each member will be taxed 10 cents for the orchestra.

WINTER AFTERNOONS

—1929 has turned the tables upside down and sharply reversed the order of the mode. Just yesterday, it seems, brief little skirts and sedately wrist-length sleeves firmly held the reins of Fashion; today, and for many tomorrow afternoons to come, trailing skirts and demure cap-sleeves are destined to enjoy the fruits of victory. Here is where the "winning team" may be found:

Fashion Says 'Long Skirts' And Society Is Obeying

BY MADAME POMPOU.

AS I was saying, long skirts are the thing! Beautiful Mrs. Albert Thornton, Jr., passed through the Hertz-Spalding luncheon last Friday at the Piedmont Driving Club, wearing a long gown (of black crepe, I think, she was rather far away) so gracefully and with such pretty assurance that one could only wonder how women could ever have been willing to wear anything else. With it, she wore a round, toque-like, black velvet hat and was, as always, the very personification of good taste and good form.

Everyone was bumping into Mrs. Thomas C. Erwin just to ask her how she happened to be wearing such a perfect gardenia magnifica and where she could possibly have found it. It was hard to believe she had as she explained, grown it herself out-of-doors, in her own garden, in this mid-November weather. Mrs. Erwin was one of the earliest and is one of the most famous, of Atlanta's garden fans.

OF COURSE, everyone at once began asking just how she managed it. Their own prized gardenia bushes had, they admitted, regrettably, given up their jobs long ago. They asked her many other questions regarding plant culture, in which she is an authority.

Mrs. Erwin's home on Oakdale road, one of the most charming places to go to, is a museum of rare antique mahogany handed down through generations, of portraits, of other paintings—delightful things, all of them. She has an early artist-proof etching of Whistler, purchased by a member of her family, oh, years ago, just after it was printed, in fact, and bought at a comparatively very small price of course. Whistler not having been at that time the world wonder, artistically speaking, that he is today.

THE Tom Erwins, Jr., married such a short while ago that they still come under the nomenclature of newly weds, are most comfortably domiciled at 1145 Ponce de Leon avenue, where they have one of the most absolutely bijou apartments to be found in Atlanta. They leave it behind them every morning, however, and start off to work together, being the most modern of young couples.

Mrs. Erwin (Miss Mary-Cecile Duane before her marriage) is a fashion artist, employed by one of the great Atlanta department stores. She is a graduate of the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts, where, after two years of study, she won a Parisian scholarship. Shortly after her return from her two years in Paris, and almost immediately after she had accepted this position as fashion

Borglum's Wilson Statue Unveiling Is Set for Dec. 28

Mr. and Mrs. Gutzon Borglum, their daughter and son, Miss Mary Ellis Borglum, and Lincoln Borglum, sail for Poland this week, where the statue of Woodrow Wilson, carved by Mr. Borglum, will be unveiled December 28. Mrs. Borglum made all the preliminary arrangements for the statue, having always taken great interest in the work of her gifted husband, and journeyed to Poland to effect the details. Gutzon Borglum, the well-known sculptor, received a cable several years ago from his friend, Ignace Padewski, world-famous celebrated composer and pianist, urging him to do a statue of President Wilson for Poland. There had been a previous competition and the model for the statue were all thrown out. Mr. Borglum was unable to go to Poland because of work he had contracted in America, so Mrs. Borglum took passage on the first ship to make arrangements for the commission, even unto visiting the foundries about the brass contracts. She has always aided Mr. Borglum in his career, by supplementing him, taking care of details, getting figures on materials, beside acting as a model.

Mr. and Mrs. Borglum's romance began on board a steamer bound for the United States. He has been working in London, and after leaving England decided to go to France to spend a week, before sailing from Cherbourg. After boarding the ship he found Miss Mary Montgomery, a very attractive young woman, seated beside him at the table. She had been studying in Germany, getting her Ph. D. and was introduced to him. Of course, they saw each other every moment on board. Later she became Mrs. Borglum.

"We were married in Martine—apple blossom time; the little cottage in New England was covered with apple blossoms," says Mr. Borglum. "Then for our honeymoon we went trout fishing, wherever the trout were reported to be biting. We wandered through New England, into Canada, and back by way of the mountain streams of the northwest, always following the trout season. Once we were called back to Princeton University, where a Professor Wilson presented me a degree. Later, when he was president, we often laughed at how he interrupted our outdoor honeymoon. And it is his statue which we will unveil in Poland on the 28th of December."

TOM HEFLIN CALLS BENITO MUSSOLINI 'MOST DANGEROUS'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini of Italy, was described in the senate today by Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, as "the most dangerous man in the world." This characterization was made in appeal for action on his resolution to ask the state department to transmit to the senate any information it has concerning alleged impressment of American citizens of Italian origin into the Italian army.

"My resolution is lying away with the foreign relations committee," Heflin shouted, "while Mussolini is occupying the front pages of our newspapers."

Debs Display Gorgeous Costumes In Fashion Show Last Evening

A fashion show is always an occasion to thrill the feminine heart and a de-luxe event was staged by the Debutante Club of 1929-30 last evening in the ballroom of the Hotel Hamilton. The models were dressed in the latest styles of the season, and a large group of Atlanta's fashionable society was present to witness the showing of such a gorgeous array of finery. The lovely gowns, afternoon and morning dresses, coats, wraps and hats were furnished by the Leon Frohman Shop, and the shoes, lingerie and children's clothes were from J. P. Allen & Company.

The beautiful mannequins entered the ballroom on an elevated walkway in the center of the room, each dressed in the most becoming and latest styles. Miss Venita Anderson wore an evening ensemble of blue and tulle, with blue velvet coat to match, trimmed in beige fur. Miss Elizabeth Branch wore a gown made entirely of blue moire ribbons, made on net. Miss Elsie Pratt wore a gown made of eggshell moire, with an eggshell evening wrap trimmed with black fur.

An unusual creation worn by Miss Grace Powell was a black chiffon, trimmed with green rhinestones, with a bracelet and necklace to match made onto the dress. Miss Boots Walker was seen in a three-piece Indian sun wool ensemble, with eggshell blouse. Miss Betty Davison wore a creation of black lace made with extremely long lines. Miss Lena Knox was lovely in an afternoon dress of black chiffon velvet, and went to match, trimmed with ermine.

Miss Ruth Rowbotham was seen in henna crepe made princess style. Miss Adair McCarty was lovely wearing an evening gown of caperine crepe made with the new high waistline. Miss Margaret Kelley was gowned in black chiffon trimmed with brown tulle. Miss Jane Dillon wore lovely in a white velvet evening dress, with a short metal cloth coat trimmed with white fox. Miss Boyce Lokey wore a black velvet dinner dress.

Miss Catherine Norcross, attractive president of the Debutante Club, wore a gown of white satin trimmed in quantities of gold beads, with an evening coat of gold brocade. Miss Katherine Howell wore a street dress of black with white collar and cuffs. Miss Sally Pearson wore a gown of black chiffon beaded in pearls and crystals, made with the new uneven hemline and modishly draped. Miss Littel Funkhouser was gowned in a gold metal cloth evening dress, fitting tight in the waist and having a long drape on the left side. Miss Lella Mason wore a gown of brown printed tulle.

Negligees and Pajamas. Miss Katherine Howell wore an exquisite negligee of eggshell satin, trimmed with real lace, with a long train draped from the back. Miss Mary Dodd wore a lovely rose negligee trimmed with cream lace and tiny French flowers.

Miss Phoebe Ellis wore a stunning pajama ensemble of red satin trimmed in lace and Miss Lena Knox was lovely wearing a princess gown of silver metal cloth, trimmed with tiers of blue velvet. Miss Frances Howard wore a becoming pajama suit, and the trousers being rose satin and the coat was of navy blue moire. Miss Sara Law wore a stunning ensemble of champagne satin lounging pajamas trimmed in dark blue.

Following the first display of styles, the models were dressed in a short, interesting, grandiose entertainment was furnished the guests. Miss Sara Sharp, attractive and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wister Sharp, gave a demonstration of the latest steps in tap dancing, and Miss Frieda Sullivan gave a number of interpretive dances.

Debutantes of Years Ago. The next feature was most unusual, being the presentation of the debutantes of years ago, showing the contrast of the styles.

Miss Evelyn Branch wore the wedding dress worn by her mother, Mrs. James Branch, which was an exquisite creation of white satin, trimmed with lace. In the back was a train of satin trimmed with lace and seed pearls. Miss Adair MacCarley was lovely in the dress worn by Miss Clair Hamilton, a grandiose entertainment was furnished the guests. Miss Sara Sharp, attractive and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wister Sharp, gave a demonstration of the latest steps in tap dancing, and Miss Frieda Sullivan gave a number of interpretive dances.

Miss Helen Braslow wore an old fashioned night gown, made of white linen with high neck and long sleeves, which belonged to Miss Lella Mason's grandmother, the late Mrs. Cornelia Hoyt Venable.

Bridal Scene. The most elaborate scene on the entire program was the beautiful wedding scene, a grand party entering to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, as in a real wedding.

During the scene J. A. Freeman sang, "Oh, Promise Me," and was accompanied by a piano. Music was played throughout the entire act.

Miss Adeline Winston was arrayed as the bride, and her brunette beauty was enhanced by her handsome gown of ivory satin made with the new uneven hemline and trimmed with gardenias and seed pearls. Her veil was of eggshell tulle, and was fastened across her head with a bandeau of seed pearls.

The lovely bridesmaids wore dresses fashioned alike, being fashioned on long tight fitting lines, shirred in the front, and touching the floor in the back. Misses Sara Law and Boyce Lokey wore gowns of this type made of Athello green satin and the dresses of Misses Katherine Howell and Catherine Norcross were of caperine satin, as was the one worn by Miss Marion Wolff, who took the part of maid of honor.

Misses Myra Boynton and Peggy Poindexter were attractive little flower girls, and wore children's dresses of green chiffon, with an extremely high waist, and lace yoke. Their shoes were dainty little green slippers to match.

The entire performance was one of elegance and beauty from the start to finish, and one of the most elaborate affairs of this kind ever given in Atlanta.

Two Women--

A group of discriminating observers were seated at dinner in one of our Seaside resort hotels. Among the guests that night were two women, both recent arrivals and unknown to most of the guests.

As to beauty—about equally good looking. Both well gowned, and simply. But — one attracted much favorable notice, and everyone was anxious to know who she was, and to know her.

Then an interesting analysis of the subtle difference began. The final decision, in which all concurred, was—the difference in their jewelry.

One wore a strand of real pearls and a beautiful diamond brooch, with a simple white gown. The other—fancy costume jewelry, of the imitation variety.

In producing that indefinable atmosphere of charm, there is no substitute for reality and genuineness—whether in jewels, character, or what not.

Give her the real thing for Christmas!

GUARD THE DANGER LINE

DENTISTS know that pyorrhea has not started so long as The Danger Line remains intact and healthy. Therefore it is immensely important to safeguard this vital line.

Your gums thin out to a delicate margin of tissue where they meet the teeth. Here is The Danger Line. Here is a row of tiny wedge-shaped crevices. Because your toothbrush can't reach all these crevices, particularly between the teeth, food particles constantly collect, ferment and form acids which irritate the gums and attack the tooth structure. Gums may bleed, recede—pyorrhea follow.

But you can guard The Danger Line with Squibb's Dental Cream. It contains 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Each time you use it, tiny particles of Milk of Magnesia are carried into the crevices and neutralize dangerous acids. Squibb's protects while it cleans safely and thoroughly. A large tube is 40c at any drugstore.

Mrs. Fortson was Miss Florence Burgess Eckford, of Atlanta, and chose to take the orange blossom trail to the strains of Lohengrin's bridal chorus in this famous church. She wore a gown of pearl black satin, trimmed with priceless lace, and carried a bouquet of calla lilies. Fortson and his bride will reside in Augusta, after honeymooning in Canada.

Mrs. Bun Wylie Indorsed for State Regent by Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R.

On motion of Mrs. Charles F. Rice, Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., unanimously endorsed Mrs. Bun Wylie for the next state regent at the meeting held at Craig House last Friday, and presided over by Mrs. Eli Thomas, regent of the chapter. Mrs. Wylie is a past regent of the Atlanta chapter, was two years state recording secretary, national vice president for Ellis Island and Patriotic Education, and is now second state vice regent. J. P. Barron, professor of history at Tech High school, gave a lecture on "Historic Spots and Places in Georgia of the Colonial Period." Mrs. Charles Rice described the dedication of Constitution Hall in Washington, on October 23, which is the third building completed by National D. A. R. Memorial Continental Hall and the administration building being the other two. Vesper services opened the exercises, followed by a procession of national officers and state regents. In the absence of Mrs. Herbert Fay Gaffney, state regent, Mrs. Rice bore the Georgia state flag. Bishop James Freeman, bishop of Washington, gave the dedicatory address. Atlanta chapter was represented at the first divisional meeting held at Pinehurst, N. C., November 1, by Mesdames Tina Wylie, Thomas Mel, Melius McConnell, Charles Rice. Mrs. Wylie explained the purposes of the divisional meeting, which any D. R. member may attend, but which is a body entirely without voting power.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

FLIP IS FILLED WITH PRIDE. BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Be not too hasty in your pride; Be sure the cause is justified. —Old Mother Nature.

There was a lot of excitement down behind Farmer Brown's henhouse. Flip the Terrier had discovered that Billy Possum there and he was dancing around Uncle Billy, barking and watching for a chance to rush in and seize him. Uncle Billy, on his part, was turning so as always to face Flip and was snarling and showing a sharp set of teeth. All the time Uncle Billy was trying to edge along the fence and reach one of the posts of the henyard. Of course, Flip didn't know this. Flip didn't know Uncle Billy or anything about him. No, sir, he didn't know who Uncle Billy was, so of course, he had no suspicion of what Uncle Billy was trying to do. All Flip wanted was a chance to dash in and seize Uncle Billy by the back of the neck. If he could once do this, he felt he could shake Uncle Billy to death in a minute.

So he continued to rush and bark, and Uncle Billy continued to gradually work along until he turned the corner of the henhouse. If he could just get down the length of the henyard to where the fence began, he could climb one of those fence posts and be safe. How he did wish that he had never seen Uncle Billy! He didn't know anything about Flip. He hadn't known anything about Flip. You see, it was a long, long time since he had been up to Farmer Brown's place. It was only a short time that Flip had been living there. Uncle Billy knew all about Bowser the Hound. He had met him before. Flip was wholly different. Bowser was slow, while Flip was quicker than a flash.

Gradually Uncle Billy was edging spent the past three months with his brother, Dr. W. A. Evans, eminent and distinguished physician. She will spend the winter at the Georgian Terrace as has been her custom for the past five years.

Tuesday evening, November 26, Misses Margaret Laney and Sarah Laney, of Jackson, Ga., will entertain at a buffet supper following the wedding rehearsal at the home of Mrs. Luther Holsenback in Druid Hills.

MORE INSURANCE ON PARK EXHIBITS ASKED BY WHITE

Additional insurance on Atlanta's zoo, the Moseley park bathhouse and the painting of the Battle of Atlanta, which is located in the Cyclorama at Grant park, was advocated Monday in city council by Councilman John A. White, chairman of the parks committee.

The painting of the Battle of Atlanta is valued at more than $250,000 and the city has no insurance on it," Mr. White stated. "It brings about $25,000 annually into the city treasury. At the present time we have $15,000 worth of insurance on the zoo, also at Grant park, and only $5,000 worth of insurance on the Moseley bathhouse which cost about $28,000 to build. We should have at least $25,000 worth of insurance on the zoo and another $25,000 worth on the bathhouse. There also are many other frame buildings the city should insure."

PART OF COURTLAND MADE NON-PARKING BY CITY COUNCIL

The east side of Courtland street between Edgewood avenue and Auburn avenue was made non-parking between 7 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock at night by action of city council Monday afternoon. Councilman James L. Wells made a verbal report of the findings of the special traffic committee appointed by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale to consider downtown parking problems. He declared the committee recommended no drastic changes at this time but would ask additional enforcement facilities next year. Councilman Jack Hardy offered two resolutions providing for establishment of whiteways on Carnegie way between Forsyth and Spring streets and on Ellis street between Peachtree and Carnegie way. Both measures were referred to the electric lights committee for a recommendation.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drug store. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germs-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of eucalypti, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Madam Edouard Clerk Lectures To Alliance Francaise Membership

Alliance Francaise meets at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Helen Muse, 43 Lafayette drive, with Charles Loridan presiding. Madam Edouard Clerk will deliver a lecture entitled "Legendes de la Province de Quebec." Madam Clerk is a contributor to several French magazines, and since she is a Canadian by birth and education she is highly qualified to give an address in French on the legends of Quebec. Her father, also a writer, is a member of the Canadian parliament. Mrs. Gattrell Holsenback and W. A. Stronier will present a little comedy by Courteline called "La paix chez soi."

COUNCIL MEMBERS INVITED TO ATTEND BENEFIT OF 122D

Members of general council Monday were given personal invitations to attend the sham battle, show and ball to be presented by the 122d infantry Georgia National Guard on the night of November 27.

Alderman Ben T. Huie, a captain in the regiment, distributed the tickets.

Features of the entertainment program include a dancing chorus composed of the Boyd School of Dancing, Colonel Gerald P. O'Keefe, commander, is putting the regiment through the paces priming it for the competitive drill in which each of the 13 companies will vie for a silver loving cup to go to the best drilled company.

6 MONTHS' DELAY ON LOST ZONING CASES ORDERED

Rejected petitions for changes in Atlanta's zoning ordinances may not be presented to city council again for six months from the time that body acts adversely on the measure, if the mayor approves an ordinance to this effect passed Monday by the council. The paper was presented by Councilman William Rountree and chairman of the ordinance committee.

BY PAUL HERVEY FOX

SYNOPSIS

Tom Davis, football star of a small eastern college, plays brilliantly in his last game. After the battle Bruce Stevens, his roommate, asks him to go to the dance that night to escort a girl who's been asked down to the college by him. Bruce explains that he wishes to avoid meeting one of the chaperons. Tom agrees to substitute for him. The girl, Suzanne Branch, makes an instantaneous appeal to him. She tells Tom that she is engaged to marry a friend of her father's. After she leaves, Tom writes to her. Before the Christmas holidays Tom meets her in New York. Suzanne breaks her engagement to the other man when she and Tom realize they love each other, and she invites Tom to her home to meet her family. Suzanne goes down to the college for commencement.

After graduation Tom's father gives him a small house at Stamford as a wedding present. Suzanne and Tom are married in November, and for the first few months are perfectly happy. One day Tom starts in town to have dinner with some college friends, and on his return Suzanne upbraids him. The storm blows over, and a few weeks later he promises to attend a prize fight with some of the boys. Suzanne creates such a scene that Tom gives up the idea.

About a year after their marriage Bruce Stevens returns from a trip to the orient. Tom is delighted to see him. He goes to occupy the guest room at their house. They have dinner in town and arrive home late. Suzanne is furious. She and Tom quarrel over Bruce's visit. She refuses to get up the next morning to see him. The two men go into town together, and Bruce tells Tom he will have to stay in town. Tom asks Suzanne for a special favor to him to return with him to Stamford. That evening on their return from New York, Suzanne greets them at the door. She is cordial to Bruce. The next day she starts a flirtation with Bruce.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

TENSION.

Then Bruce knew! Beyond any question, it accounted for all Suzanne's pleasantness, her little striving to charm and attract him. She had told him now, no more loyalty or love for Tom than she had for this wretchedly designed sloop.

He did not know what to think. Poor old Tom! What a mess! He'd take it badly when he found out what she was really like. But he wouldn't at least find out through him. Bruce assured himself. He recalled Tom's passionately adoring eyes only last evening. He was tremendously in love with the girl. He almost lived for her. And she was ready at the drop of a hat to flirt with another man. Tom's limits couldn't be persuaded with her shameless eyes, her bag of familiar tricks, her detestable vanity!

For the first time in his life Bruce felt the indignation of the reformer. He knew better than to show her he had seen anything, and he talked in his casual way as they steered for Dolan's wharf.

It was quite late. The colors were going out of the sky. Suzanne drove home.

"I'm cold," she said. "I'd like a drink myself. Want one?"

He drank the highball of bad Scotch which she prepared, and looked at the clock.

"Tom's train must be in," he said. "O, he'll find a taxi," she said indifferently. At that moment Bruce noticed her fingers. She was clasping and unclasping them as if in some profound nervousness. In spite of the expression of her face, he thought she was somehow baffled and irritable.

"She's excited about something," he told himself. "I'd like to know what she's thinking. There's more to her than I imagined."

When Tom came in he was at first puzzled by her failure to meet him and then a little short with her. "I can't afford taxis, you know," he said; "at least not from the station. If you can't meet me, you'd better let me drive myself in the mornings."

"But didn't you want me to take Bruce out?" she asked.

"Of course."

"Then I don't see—"

He made an effort to recapture his good humor. "I got some tickets for tomorrow night," he said. "For 'Ring Around Rosie.' They say Estelle Street is good in it. Thought it might be fun if we went."

"All right," Suzanne agreed without enthusiasm.

"Kathleen would like to come," she suggested.

"O, Bruce doesn't like her."

"Well, you like her, don't you?"

She did not wait for an answer. "I'll see what's in the ice box," she continued. "You'll have to eat cold things tonight." She went out of the room, humming to herself.

Tom took his folded paper out of his pocket and threw it down with a curse.

Bruce lit a cigaret, and smoked in sympathetic silence.

The chorus, looking suddenly tired beneath their grease paint, after the strenuous dance numbers of "Ring Around Rosie," were going through the paces of the last number. Estelle Street was in the juvenile's arms, and the comedian had come on for his last gag. In the wings a stage hand pulled the curtain ropes; the orchestra gave a blast of relief, and began playing the hit of the show for the seventh time.

"We'll meet them outside," Suzanne said to Bruce. She had somehow misinterpreted things so as to be with him on the train down and in the theater. Bruce had been polite, but the misery in Tom's eyes had haunted him, and cast a shade on even the comedian's best efforts.

Strange that a strong man could be made so miserable by something as frail as Suzanne! It struck him as a phenomenon. He had always supposed that women could hurt men only in the grand manner, by tragic deceptions and betrayals, by lies and utter destruction. He had never been hurt himself, and to see a man tortured by little pin-pricks of indifference and cruelty was something new in his experience. Perhaps he would not have noticed it at all, had not the man been his friend.

The crush outside was terrific. By luck, Suzanne saw an empty cab.

"Quick! Let's not wait. Tom knows the place," she said all in a breath, and jumped inside.

Bruce had no choice except to follow. He gave the driver the address she mentioned, a night club whose brief popularity was already on the wane.

It was a sordid enough place, certainly, a greasy proprietor in the background, and rapacious waiters. The hostess, with the history of every dreary wickedness written in capital letters on her little, brittle, not very good looking face, all served to depress Bruce. He stared around at the patrons, a couple of self-indulgent men telling each other saucy stories, a boy sitting with a woman with blond hair, people with wolfish or ferret-like faces. He thought quite suddenly that not even in the east had he seen eyes like these in the small smoky, gaudy room.

His back was to the door, but he turned now and then, hoping for a sign of Tom.

"O, never mind about them," Suzanne said. "They'll take their time. Probably they're walking over."

Songs and dances, applause, and expensive ginger-ale, and bad sandwiches served with a flourish; and time wore on.

Bruce felt, rather than observed, the same tension in Suzanne that had struck him yesterday. He was quite sure she was now enjoying herself either. It was as if she were lifted up to some special pitch, and was carrying herself through by sheer will.

Fortunately, he was so great that he did not need to talk. But now he began to wonder about Tom.

The entertainment dragged on, and late arrivals came in, made still more of an uproar, seemed, in a way, to be enjoying themselves.

"Are you sure?" he asked suddenly above the din. "That Tom knows this place?" He might have lost the address.

"O, no. He's very careful always. And—"

She stopped. Her eyes widened. She gave a forced laugh.

"O, do you know what I've done!" she exclaimed.

"It's been my fault. I took you to the wrong place! He said the club was—it's the wrong place!"

"What time is it?" she asked. Bruce told her, and she gasped. "No, not really! Your watch is wrong."

"I can't think so. Why?"

"There aren't any more trains."

Chick Roos Slated To Become Cracker Club Secretary

HE BEGIN WORK FOR AUBURN GAME

ROOS SLATED AS SECRETARY FOR CRACKERS

Joe Engel, Lookout Owner, Refused Director's Place by League.

By Herb Caldwell.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 18.—Mobile will remain in the Southern league, probably under new ownership and management, Joe Engel, new president of the Chattanooga club, was taken into the fold but not as a league director; there will be no split season, the player limit remains at 18 and there will be no change in the so-called "rookie rule" that prohibits clubs from carrying on their roster more than 13 players under "A" classification.

These were the developments of importance at the annual meeting of the Southern league directors here today at the Peabody hotel when all business was completed in one day and the magnates returned to their respective homes. John D. Martin, president of the league, presided and announced the meeting "one of the most harmonious in the 29 years' history of the league."

MOBILE CHANGE.

President Martin is starting out on his second year of a five-year term and his twelfth as chief executive of the league. While the only statement given out after the meeting regarding the Mobile situation was that Mobile would remain in the league, it is practically certain that there will be a change in ownership and management. It is likely that Jimmy Hamilton, who managed the Nashville club in 1928 and the Canton, Ohio, club last season, will be president or manager.

Hamilton was present during the discussion of the Mobile affair that assumed most of the afternoon session. He was in Mobile recently and conferred with the present owners but nothing definite was announced. Hamilton admitted that he had submitted a proposition to the present owners but said it had not been accepted. He also admitted that he would make another trip to Mobile in the near future.

ROOS TO ATLANTA.

Frank "Chick" Roos, president of the Mobile club, and William A. Douglas, chairman of the board of directors of the club, each admitted that the owners had been negotiating with Hamilton but added that no definite conclusion had been reached. While Roos would not discuss his future plans it was learned from a pretty reliable source that he may sever his connection with the Mobile club and become secretary of the Atlanta club under ownership and also under a new manager, Johnny Dobbs, formerly pilot of the Barons.

When asked to verify the fact that he would go to the Atlanta club, Roos said "I would rather not discuss my plans for the future."

Joe Engel, president of the Washington American league club who, it was announced, purchased the controlling stock in the Chattanooga club, is in the league but as Joe puts it, "he doesn't exactly know how he stands."

"IN" OR "OUT."

R. C. Richard, vice president and business manager of the Lookouts last season, will remain as vice president and a director of the league although Engel will be president of the club. Both sat in at the meeting yesterday. There was some discussion before Engel was admitted into the executive session. Richard did the "yesing and noing" and Engel did the "nodding."

OFFICE MAJORS.

The league directors went on record as condemning and strongly opposing major league ownership of a Southern league club.

Engel, addressing the directors, stated that he was really the purchaser of the Chattanooga club and that Clark Griffith, president of the Senators, with whom Engel once played as a pitcher and is now scouting for, endorsed the notes for him merely through friendship. Engel further stated that he would relieve Griffith as an endorser if the other 7 club owners in the league were willing to endorse the paper purchasing the Lookouts. "The other directors, however, decided to let it stand 'as is' with Richard remaining as a league director. Engel, however, was given some recognition and honor when he was placed on the committee on constitutional revision of which W. D. Smith, president of the Birmingham club, is chairman, and Bob Allen, president of the Little Rock club, the other member. Other committees named were resolutions: R. J. Spiller, Atlanta, chairman, and W. A. Douglas, Mobile, and R. C. Richard, schedule; Jules Heinemann, New Orleans, chairman, and Tom Watkins, Memphis, and Jack Whaley, Nashville.

NO SPLIT SEASON.

The matter of splitting the season was not even brought up in the form of a motion. There was a brief discussion over the rookie rule but the vote was against any revision which means that if a club carries the full quota of 18 men not more than 13 will be class "A" men with 5 so-called "rookies" or players coming into the league from a league of lower classification than "A."

The Southern and Texas League post-series will be continued as far as the Southern League is concerned. It was voted to renew the contract for 5 more years. Although the champion Little Rock club played Fort Worth a post-series in 1929, the first official series was between Memphis and Fort Worth in 1921.

The 1930 playing season will open on April 15 and the usual schedule of 154 games will be played. The schedule committee will present their rulings to the directors at a meeting to be held in Birmingham on February 10.

Ed Danforth

On single plays sometimes football games are won or lost. At least one can envision such a situation and become convinced of the accuracy of his deductions.

A scout who watched the Vanderbilt-Tennessee game Saturday in Knoxville mud declares that Tennessee won on the first move of the game when Hackman received the Vanderbilt kickoff on his own 15-yard line and ran it back to Vanderbilt's 47-yard line.

Established there in Vanderbilt territory, Tennessee had the gate wide open. Dodd punted and the ball was killed on the Vandy three-yard line. From that point on, Vanderbilt was deep in its own mire and had no chance to get an offense started. The scout's theory is reasonable, what?

MORE EXAMPLES.

Going back to the Vanderbilt-Alabama game, a single maneuver could have been called the turning point. On the second exchange of kicks Schwartz punted 60 yards and Scheffer grounded the ball on the eight-yard line.

Alabama had to kick out in a hurry, the ball gobbled out for only a short distance and Vanderbilt threw a surprise touchdown pass on first down.

The Tech-Alabama game may have turned on a fifteen-yard penalty that put the Tide only five yards from the goal. The Yellow Jackets subsequently were able to stop every drive Alabama made and presumably could have halted them there when fresh and hopeful.

TWO MORE CASES.

One can imagine that the Tech-Florida game was decided right at the outset. Tech kicked off and Crabtree brought the ball back in a dancing rush. He dodged and swerved behind his interference and got into the clear at midfield.

Then as Crabtree cut sharply to let an interferer go after Thomason, he slipped momentarily. It gave Sid Williams a chance to grab a leg from behind and pull him down. Had Crabtree gotten away for that touchdown, Florida probably would have won the game.

EVERY PLAY COUNTS.

Now all such reasoning is superficial. None can argue with a man who sees a football game turn on a single play. Who can prove it did not turn on one of the succeeding chances?

Yet it is fruitful if it can convince players that EVERY play in a game is important, every move they make may determine the outcome of the game.

TENNESSEE'S SPIRIT.

Tennessee's victory over Vanderbilt among other things was a manifestation of a remarkable spirit that team has acquired. The boys never have been defeated—not in 28 games—and do not believe a team in America can beat them.

So in the Vanderbilt game Saturday, the fact that Vanderbilt was alleged to hold a jinx over Tennessee and all that did not worry Dodd, Hackman, McEver, Hug et al. Hadn't they beaten Vanderbilt the year before? And had any team ever beaten Tennessee since they came to the campus?

The Tennessee team would go into action against Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, California or a team of the ghosts of an all-time All-American team and never turn a hair. The South wishes Tennessee had taken on an intersectional opponent of some standing this year just to show them up there what sort of teams we have.

THE NEGATIVE SIDE.

Bill Keefe, of the Times Picayune, New Orleans, however still is unconvinced. He contends that Tulane looks better than Tennessee as he says Sunday:

"As for Tennessee—well, it's too bad a game between the vols and Tulane can't be arranged. It would be a football treat. And because I believe Tulane has Tennessee outclassed in the air and a better line, such a game would find yours truly taking a stock market plunge on the Green Wave. McEver is good, but Bill Banker and Ike Armstrong would make him hustle to outshine them and I don't believe he could do it."

And Bill adds his estimate of Vanderbilt:

"Vanderbilt's performance makes one wonder how the Commodores ever beat Alabama. Too bad they weren't on Tulane's schedule this year."

Well, you never know until you try playing here and there as the lads from Tech and Georgia and Alabama have found out.

GRIDIRON NICKNAMES.

It is easy to see where some football players get their nicknames. Banker, of Tulane, is called "Billy" because his first name is "Willis." And "Willis" is no name to call when five yards are needed.

Holm, of Alabama, is called "Tony" because his first name is Bernard. What quarterback ever could say in the huddle: "You take the ball over this time, Bernard," and sound like he meant it?

Beaumont Buys Trio Of Seattle Players

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 18.—(AP) Three players, all former members of the Seattle Coast league team, have been purchased by the Beaumont club of the Texas League.

Rube Stuart, president of the Exporters, said he had obtained Oscar Eckhardt, former Texas University football star, an outfielder; Charlie Wade, outfielder, and Fred Pignas, pitcher. All played on the coast last year.

DIXIE LEADERS BUCKLE DOWN TO HARD WORK

Volts Driving for Thanksgiving Day Issue With Kentuckians.

With an open date scheduled for next Saturday, most of the Southern conference football machines Monday began ten days of intensive rehearsals for the big Thanksgiving Day battles. Major Bob Neyland, whose Tennessee eleven reached the finals by outsplashing Vanderbilt last week, said there would be no letup at Knoxville where the Vols are already busy with schemes to tame the Kentucky Wildcats.

Tied with Tulane for the lead, Tennessee must take both Kentucky and South Carolina into camp to earn a clean-cut claim to the championship.

TOUGH SPOT.

The Kentucky game is one of the toughest spots on the Tennessee schedule and Major Neyland feels none too good about it. Although beaten by Alabama, the Wildcats, with "Shpewreck" Kelly functioning again, are primed to turn in their best performance of the season against the Vols.

Tulane, the other title contender, went to work for its one remaining conference test with Louisiana State. Coach Bernie Bierman, the Tulane mentor, apparently has every reason to hope for a victory over the Tigers, which, after a whirlwind start against four or five small colleges, slumped badly against Arkansas and Duke.

DOPE UNCERTAIN.

This, however, is one of those games in which the dope is mighty uncertain. Like the annual meetings between Georgia and Georgia Tech, Virginia and North Carolina and South Carolina and Clemson, anything can happen. Upsets are frequent and the weaker team often comes through to a victory.

By beating Louisiana State, Tulane would have a conference record of six wins and no defeats which would give it the title if Tennessee loses to or ties with either Kentucky or South Carolina.

Alabama, late in striking its stride, but now going like a house afire, hopes to dangle the scalp of Georgia along with those of Kentucky and Georgia Tech.

WEEK-END TILT.

The only conference test on tap this week-end sends Florida to Columbia, S. C., to clash with the South Carolina Gamecocks. Three more outside teams will be busy, but against outside competition.

North Carolina State will keep the intersectional ball rolling by going to Philadelphia to meet Villanova which already has won decisions from Duke and Oglethorpe, two other southern teams.

The Duke Blue Devils play Wake Forest at Durham and Clemson entertains the Citadel Bulldogs in a game which looms important in the South Carolina championship race.

S. I. A. A. CLASH.

Reporting on the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association's meeting which headlines the program in the S. I. A. A.

The keenest sort of rivalry exists between these two Birmingham schools and the air is thick with flying fur whenever they get together.

Conveyance makes its first and only bid of the season in the S. I. A. A. against Louisiana Poly at Shreveport. None of the undefeated S. I. A. A. teams except Centenary is scheduled against association opposition.

FAST ACTION.

Because of the unprecedented number of rounds he fought, the promoter announces that every fight will be run off quickly and without a hitch, that the battle royal will be put on promptly at 8:30 and each succeeding event will be hustled into the center of the ring without a moment's delay. Even with all possible speed, the show is likely to last until nearly midnight.

Principals are California Joe Gans and Roy Dunn, for 10 rounds, a return match that resulted from their close 15-round battle here a few weeks ago which was also staged by Roby. The public thought so much of that engagement and so much of Gans' ability that despite the fact that he lost a narrow decision they petitioned Roby to rematch the pair. With 10 rounds as the limit, the promoter is confident the action will be swift and to the point.

TWO HEAVIES.

The main pair are welterweights, so to vary the thing Roby will throw two heavyweights—Happy Hunter, veteran crowd-pleaser of Atlanta, and Bearcat Obie, a 200-pounder from Savannah, in the eight-round semi-final slot.

Other well-known local black warriors who will exhibit their wares in the numerous preliminaries will be Cowboy Kid, Kid Moon, Gene Thomason, Battling Henry Rough, House Glover and Young Billy Hooper. In every instance, these boys will meet opponents from other cities which means that they will require the vocal support of the big crowd. Three of the fighters are from one stable and all from Sanford, Fla., and each of them has an Atlanta glove-wielder to contend with.

Every one of the fighters was in the city Monday and today was to weigh in before the police commission. Prices have been cut to the bone to boost the attendance and the prize money is free when accompanied by a male escort.

THE CARD.

Joe Dunn, Atlanta, vs. California Joe Gans, of California, 10 rounds.
Happy Hunter, Atlanta, vs. Bearcat Obie, Savannah, eight rounds.
Kid Moon, Atlanta, vs. Straight Eight Dunn, Atlanta, six rounds.
Young Billy Hooper, Atlanta, vs. Ace of Spades August, eight rounds.
Prize Albert Sherman, Sanford, Fla., vs. Battling Henry, Atlanta, four rounds.
Kid Zedek, Sanford, Fla., vs. Gene Thomason, Atlanta, four rounds.
Young Henry, Sanford, Fla., vs. Jim Stafford, Atlanta, four rounds.
Battle royal, open.

Kid Berg Wins.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Jack (Kid) Berg, English junior lightweight, won the decision over Eddie Elkins, of Harlem, in their 10-round bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight. Berg weighed 138; Elkins 137.

ROBY STAGES CARD TONIGHT

Joe Gans Meets Roy Dunn in Feature of Big Show.

One of the most pretentious boxing cards offered in Atlanta since the modernization of the ring sport will be staged tonight in the grand auditorium of the city auditorium. It's an all-negro bill stretched to 52 rounds by the addition of 12 Saturday to an original offering of 40 rounds and brings into action no less than 16 fighters—and 16 of the best colored battlers below the Mason and Dixon line.

Because of the unprecedented number of rounds he fought, the promoter announces that every fight will be run off quickly and without a hitch, that the battle royal will be put on promptly at 8:30 and each succeeding event will be hustled into the center of the ring without a moment's delay. Signor Carnera's Fist Casts Ominous Shadow

Conqueror of Stribling Once Killed an Opponent With Terrific Punch.

By Ralph McGill.

Signor Primo Carnera, the Italian heavyweight, who won yesterday afternoon from W. L. (Young) Stribling in a London ring, may, in time, become a menace.

The Signor, like all Italians who train on spaghetti, is no faker. But he is quite a giver and any of the givers are menaces.

If the Signor ever comes to this country there will no doubt be considerable consternation in the ranks of the American heavyweights (now almost extinct) and in the ranks of the foreign contenders who have flocked here for the feast at the resin board.

It is now that the Signor is a great fighter. It is now that he is a boxer of skill. It is now that he cannot be hit, for he can. But it is because the Signor is a giver who really gives until it hurts—his opponent.

The Signor killed an opponent with a single blow recently.

It has been so long since a giver appeared in an American ring that the boys have got out of the habit of being opposed to a giver. The very thought of appearing in the ring with Signor Carnera and knowing that any moment he might let loose a punch which would send one into a deep and eternal sleep brings consternation to the prize-ring habitués in the land of the free and the home of the brave.

When Mr. William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey was giving he was muchly feared and only the more hardy attempted to take what he had. There were a few hardy ones in his time who were willing and who were very good givers themselves. But they all went the way of all flesh and the ring today has no givers. There is a very grave fear that there are no takers but since there are no givers it is impossible to determine whether the takers are extinct or not.

Mr. James Joseph Tunney, called Gene, is the perpetuate prize ring pugilist who set the style now prevalent in the ring. Mr. Tunney was Continued on Second Sport Page.

"Stumpy" Thomason Praised by McGugin

Friends of Stumpy Thomason, Georgia Tech's great half-back, revealed yesterday afternoon that he had received a letter from Dan McGugin, coach of the Vanderbilt football team, in which the Commodore coach expressed admiration of Thomason's ability as a half-back and his spirit which shows that "victories inspire no greater effort from you than the discouragement of defeat." The letter was received last week after the Vanderbilt-Tech game and is even more applicable after the Alabama-Tech game. McGugin's letter read as follows:

Mr. Stumpy Thomason,
Georgia Tech Football Team,
Atlanta, Ga.
Mr. Dear Stumpy:

I read with some interest the stories in the Atlanta papers with respect to the game between Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt, particularly that part which dwelt upon the effort made by you and Mr. Mizell. I did not need the suggestion of these stories to have indelibly impressed upon me your skill, determination and courage.

You have had glory enough as a player. You were a member of that amazing team, the best team in the whole country last year. You have on innumerable occasions when given half an opportunity provoked consternation as well as admiration.

You have now given evidence that victories inspire no greater effort from you than the discouragement of defeat. You have set a fine example for the boyhood of America. You have added to the tradition of the great game which we all love.

The same spirit and the same effort and the same courage will bring victory to you upon the gridiron of life. Indeed, my boy, you achieved victory last Saturday.

You have my best wishes and even though I may sound a little sentimental, you will have my affectionate interest from here on out.

Sincerely your friend,
DAN MCGUGIN.

TIGERS OFFER STRONGER TEAM FOR ENGINEERS

Hudson Edwards Being Groomed To Aid Regular Guards in Game Here.

By Ralph McGill.

In times of peace the Jackets are preparing for war. The Tech football team has found every opponent very tough indeed and they can't believe but that the Auburn Plainsmen, next on the schedule, will be just like the others.

Mr. John (Stoopdown) Floyd brings the Plainsmen here on Thanksgiving day for a game at the Flats. He showed quite an improvement against Georgia last week, did Mr. Floyd, and with 10 days in which to prepare a poison potion for the Jackets, he is expected to be very poisonous indeed. There is no doubt but what the Jackets will meet the toughest team Auburn has had all fall.

THEY WOULD.

The Jackets would. They are that way. They have caught all their foes this fall right at the neck. And Auburn will be no exception. The Jackets will have to exert themselves considerably to win.

It was for only three weeks ago that John (Stoopdown) Floyd made head coach of the Auburn Tigers. He has been shifting them around like a checker player in a tight place and he seems to be getting results.

He reached into the line and nominated Captain Long, then a guard, as the Auburn fullback. The nomination was equivalent to an election and the Georgia game saw Captain Long in action at fullback.

CAPTAIN LONG.

The boys who saw the game say that Captain Long runs with an awkward sort of gallop that hides a great deal of skill. They say that Captain Long runs like a humping mule and that he hits the line with about the same force. That force was enough to crack the Georgia line a few times. Any time one of these country boys who runs like a plow mule hits another young man, the other young man knows he has been hit. Coach Floyd is a backfield coach and he will trim off some of the rough edges from Captain Long's fullbacking.

It is already obvious that had Coach Floyd been in charge of the Auburn squad a season or two ago he would not be as necessary to trim off the rough edges.

BETTER TEAM.

He has now reorganized his team so that his two tackles, his two guards and his two ends are all new. His ends were doing good work against Georgia. With Captain Long running in the backfield and with 10 days for a week and his women pretty fair football team on Thanksgiving Day.

The Jackets should win. But they realize that they cannot take the Auburn football team as they have taken past the Jackets have started work on Georgia plays before the Thanksgiving game but this fall they are not. They are going to full speed in a substantial score but the Jackets know that the Tigers will fight and play better football than they have at any other time this fall. And that can't be overlooked.

MIZELL OUT.

Warner Mizell was not able to participate in the signal drills of yesterday. It developed that at least two Alabama players were stalled in the muscles of their legs. Their presence was not discovered until Sunday morning. Mizell was in uniform yesterday but he walked through the plays. He was not in the game at the end of the week, their being no indication that the charley horses are any more severe than the ordinary ones.

Of course were one of our best citizens to have a couple of charley horses stalled on his premises he would be in bed for a week and his women folks would be talking about now helpless a man is when he is sick. Because even an ordinary charley horse is a very serious ailment. But football players overcome them somehow.

NEW GUARD.

The Jackets went through a signal drill with Hudson Edwards getting some attention at a guard position. He played magnificent game against Alabama, going into the lineup from the obscurity of a third-string position on the bench.

Edwards will be used to relieve Joe Westbrook at the guard position. He played magnificent game against Alabama, going into the lineup from the obscurity of a third-string position on the bench.

McGugin Rates Tennessee One of Best Grid Teams in Country

SAYS MEVER BETTER BACK THAN BANKER

Vandy Coach Finds No Weak Spots in Great Machine.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 18.—I have a rather arduous task today. I agreed to write an article reviewing Saturday's games and my team lost.
If there is anything that tends to bring on a stutter in conversation or to make the ink dry in the fountain pen it is to try to get out something on such an occasion.

As far as Vanderbilt is concerned, the Commanders played a mighty good football game against the University of Tennessee, but I do not recall an occasion when a team functioned any better than the Tennessee team did Saturday.

All doubt in my mind whether Mc-Ever is entitled to selection on the All-Southern team has been removed.
I feel that Banker was more dangerous, more of a thunderbolt type, striking devastation out of a clear sky.

MEVER BEST.
Banker is a wonderful back, but there is probably not a better back than McEver on the American football field. He has abundant weight, unusual strength, wonderful speed, is as elusive as a fly, buzzing around a honey jar, and a darned sight more tantalizing. Take McEver out of the Tennessee team and the team would still be a first-class team, but not a great team.

Another man on Tennessee who makes a great contribution to the success of that team is Dodd, the quarterback, who is a skillful, has clear judgment and is a wonderful punter.
Still another man of great ability is Left End Hug. But as a matter of fact, there is not a weak place in the Tennessee team. It has plenty of power, good tackling, good blocking and unusual team speed.

Very few teams get off with the Low Blow Costs W.L. Bout With Carnera

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian carpenter, won on a foul in the fourth round of his 15-round bout with W. L. (Young) Stribling, Macon (Ga.) heavyweight, at Albert hall tonight.

It was a wild fight with Stribling holding the upper hand until he landed two blows which were ruled foul in the fourth round.
Stribling gave the Italian giant a terrific body beating in the first two rounds. In the third the Macon heavyweight floored Carnera for a count of six with a heavy right to the jaw. Enraged, Carnera shot a left to Stribling's jaw that sent the American down for a count of four. The fourth round had barely started when Stribling sent home a left and right low on Carnera's body. The Italian went down, writhing, and Stribling was disqualified.

So intense was interest in the fight that all the gallery seats were sold out hours before the bout. Betting was about even with dopers forecasting a clean battle between Stribling's experience gained in 294 fights since 1923, of which he won 117 by knockouts, and Carnera's colossal bulk and merciless uppercuts which killed a man in a French ring recently.

Carnera appeared in only 15 fights since he quit carpentering a year ago but he towered 8 inches above his American opponent and held a 95-pound weight advantage.
The Prince of Wales was among the early arrivals.

Auburn Winner Instead of Tech Clark Drills For Hard Game

Georgia Tech's cross country team, with an apparent victory over the Auburn barriers in their grasp last Saturday found that victory to be a mere dream.
Captain Crisfield and Hal Ashbury, Tech runners, leading the pack, were followed across the finish line by a group of Tigers. In the press of the throng at the tape a count credited the Tigers with three men in the bunch. And that count gave the Jackets a 27-28 victory. Later the lads from the plains showed that they had pushed over four distance men. And the Jackets were not the victors.
The Tigers were. By a count of 26-30.

The cross country season at the Flats will be closed this Saturday as the Jackets journey to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, for the annual Southern conference meet.

NEW MENACE IN PUGILISM

quite good at it but his disciples are terrible. Mr. Tunney managed to out-think and outmaneuver an old man with tired legs by neither giving nor receiving except mildly and with restraint.

LITTLE GIVING.

His followers have not been as earnest as Mr. Tunney. There was no giving and no taking at the battle of Miami. There was a little giving when Jack Sharkey knocked out Tommy Loughran but Tommy Loughran proved to be a very mild taker.

It was evident from the account of Italian can be hit. Yet the account of the fight is sure to serve as a producer of bad dreams for the prize people. When he was hit he became so irritated that he smashed right through the guard of W. L.
(Young) Stribling and knocked him very horizontal, indeed—for a nine count.

The prize ring industry is in very bad condition. The chain store is spreading. The heads of the Garden, those whom the late Tex Rickard liked to speak of as "Millionaires—
the best people," have placed Mr.
Dempsey at Chicago as a promoter,
so the wise ones in New York say,
and have already taken over the Mi-

Scott, Victorio Campolo and a pedicu-lous lot of hangers-on about the throne room where once sat John L. Sullivan, James J. Jeffries, Gene Tunney, Jim Corbett and others who wore the purple robes of the prize ring with dignity. There is only a sorry lot left.

And a man who can punch hard enough to kill an opponent should be quite a scourge in the land of the free and the home of the brave. What a pity it is that the Signor cannot guarantee one of those punches for every match. A lot of useless and wholly undesirable would soon be fleecing our shores.

It is to be hoped that someone trains the Signor on something other than spaghetti and meat balls and brings him over.
There is a bare chance that he has one or two of those punches left.

ONE-HALF OF THE GRANDSTAND

will be set aside to accommodate the white fans who will witness the classic.
Over 5,000 are expected to see this contest, which will surpass the crowd at the Morris Brown-Juskegee game a few weeks ago. The rivalry between the two teams involved makes the interest keen among the colored followers of both schools in Atlanta.

THE FOOTBALL SQUAD OF TECH will be idle that day, will attend the game in a body, it was announced by Coach Taylor, who extended the invitation to the Tech coach.

4 Passes, 4 Scores;

Opponents Got 2

One of the most thrilling games ever played in the south was the meeting this year of Clemson and South Carolina. Clemson made four passes and two of them were Clemson touchdowns. The other two were intercepted by South Carolina for touchdowns. The game was thereby tied until South Carolina fumbled near the end of the game and gave Clemson the ball near the goal. Clemson followed over the last one on straight football.

ATTACK FAILS.

Missouri's attack completely failed
against N. Y. U. and the only bright spot for the Tigers was the defensive
work of Waldorf and Hurley.

Ossie Solen's Drake Bulldogs, again
champions of the Missouri Valley conference, disposed of Iowa State, as generally expected.

Coach Frank Murray made some shifts in the Marquette line-up which broke up Boston college's running backs and forward passing attack.
Marquette's line outplayed the eastern team. This victory and Marquette's tie with Detroit are enough to make the season a success for the Milwaukee team.

Brazil, one of the best backs in the country, was prominent in Detroit's decisive victory over Michigan State, which had been expected to make things more interesting.

Little Towns

Made Famous

Three small towns of the eastern shore of Maryland won fame by the performances of her sons on the diamond. Frank Baker, the first home run king, put Trappe, Md., on the map. Buck Herzog did the same for Ridgely, and the Baltimore excaltroupe. The last was Jimmy Fox-
of Sudlersville.

GO ON PATERN GATE PURDUE IOWA VICTORY

Zupke Says Fine Chunk- ers Are Rare—Boiler- makers Deserve Title.

By Robert C. Zupke.
Football Coach University of Illinois.
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 18.—Purdue, which won the Big Ten championship in defeating Iowa, proved by its victory that it is as good as any team in the country.

No competition Saturday in and out, is as tough as that in the Big Ten. Our team is destroying each other and it takes an unusually hardy one to emerge unscathed.

Purdue's victory was largely due to two outstanding backs, Harmonson and Welch, stalwart personalities and exact ball handlers. They have size, weight and experience.

The teams made an equal amount of ground and it was Harmonson's passing ability which turned the scales.
It was Coach Ingwersen's misfortune that Iowa has no accurate passer.
Few spectators realize the difference between the abilities of passers. The man who can time his toss, throw a ball that can be easily handled and put it in the right spot is rare.

ADAPT HANDLING.

Jimmy Phelan, coaching Purdue to its first Big Ten championship, has handled his material adeptly. No one will begrudge Purdue its triumph and Illinois passes on the crown to a fine team, well coached.

Notes were deserved to win from Southern California and I congratulate Rockne and his crew for upholding middle western football prestige.
The Irish and the Germans are probably as good as the best Big Ten teams but, in my opinion, they are no better. Don't overlook Santa Clara's defeat of Stanford.

The Notre Dame-Southern California game was a tight one. Both teams played some grand football and knew what it was all about. But there must have been some loose ends in the open or the yardage gained by both teams in returning punts and kickoffs would not have been so large.

Notre Dame made a play this week and Southern California 152, including Saunders' return of a Notre Dame kickoff for a touchdown. Large yardage in returning kickoffs also means that the defensive team is not running with the kickoff. Long returns of punts also indicate that the punter is not placing them out of bounds or near the side line. Rockne apparently expected the Trojans to be poor against passes and they were.

CLOSE COMPETITION.

The tightness of Big Ten competition was well illustrated when Minnesota and Northwestern, both favorable to Michigan and Indiana. Michigan, outplayed the first half, came back strong in the second.
One writer said the play was won by Minnesota and Indiana. Michigan tried it against Illinois in 1925. Fortunately, we were present and event last week and event in the Northwestern for the Michigan touchdown invoked for the Michigan touchdown when the Wolverines were wrangling over the right play to use and put ball in play in the midst of their talk, as Minnesota was relaxing.
Alertness wins football games, often as much as power.

Northwestern undoubtedly had been softened by being keyed up for Illinois and Ohio State and could not maintain its emotional strain. Here was Indiana, a team which had won a conference game, yet a Hoosier halfback, Ross, from scrimmage ran 89 yards for the winning touchdown.

FUNDAMENTALS.

Giving all credit to Coach Page and Indiana for their gallant uphill struggle,
I can hardly believe that Indiana is as good a team as Northwestern on the basis of material. Undoubtedly Coach Hanes will put his players back to work on fundamentals as he prepares for Notre Dame this week.

Against Illinois, Coach Stagg presented the conceived passing attack
I have seen in my experience as a coach. One man was sent out wide and another player was in motion when the ball was put into play. It was a baffling play, even when your team knew it was coming, and if Chicago had been able to compete in the plugging and running game it might have won for them.

Ohio State's monumental score against Kenyon meant nothing, except that the Buckeyes had nice rest in which to get ready for Illinois.

COMEBACK.

Coach Lindsley's Oklahoma team came from behind to tie Nebraska and win the Big Six title. It was a retry for goal after touchdown. Nebraska, lacking the great power of other days, remains the only undefeated team in the Big Six, but has been defeated twice. Oklahoma is fast and tricky and has a good open field runner in Guy Warren.

Missouri's attack completely failed
against N. Y. U. and the only bright spot for the Tigers was the defensive
work of Waldorf and Hurley.

Ossie Solen's Drake Bulldogs, again
champions of the Missouri Valley conference, disposed of Iowa State, as generally expected.

broke up Boston college's running
backs and forward passing attack.
Marquette's line outplayed the eastern
team. This victory and Marquette's tie with Detroit are enough to make the season a success for the Milwaukee
team.

Brazil, one of the best backs in the country, was prominent in Detroit's
decisive victory over Michigan State,
which had been expected to make things more interesting.

Little Towns

Made Famous

Three small towns of the eastern shore of Maryland won fame by the
performances of her sons on the diamond. Frank Baker, the first home run king, put Trappe, Md., on the
map. Buck Herzog did the same for Ridgely, and the Baltimore ex-
caltroupe. The last was Jimmy Fox-
of Sudlersville.

Football's Stars Shine Brightly on Grid Saturday

By Frank Getty.
United News Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(United News.)—A waning gridiron season found the bright stars of 1929 football twinkling brilliantly as ever from coast to coast
Saturday.

Of the potential "All-America" men, only little Albie Booth, Yale's sophomore hero, fretted on the sidelines, crippled temporarily by a malignant leg infection.

Pittsburgh's outstanding star,
Toby Umana, greatest of ball-carrying backs in the east, was at his best in the climax of his extraordinary career against Carnegie Tech Saturday, and the devastation in the ranks of the Skibos was writing Umana's name in trail of five touchdowns through the plaid defenses, scoring twice himself.

LOM GALLOPS.

On the other side of the continent, Benny Lom, California's brilliant triple threat man, kept clean the slate of the Golden Bears and provided for a 7-0 victory over Washington, with his accurate passing and long punts.

Down south, Gene McEver, touchdown king of the conference, paved the way for Tennessee's winning touchdowns over Vanderbilt, strongest rivals of the Volunteers in the day's big game.
Tony Holm, Alabama's big backfield star, smashed his way to a decisive touchdown over Georgia Tech and added another by snatching a pass and racing 50 yards to score again in the final period.

THRILL-MAKER.

Russell Saunders, Southern California quarterback, provided one of the big thrills of a spectacular game with Notre Dame before 100,000 at Chicago by springing 95 yards for a touchdown. He gathered momentum and kicked off the Irish. But in the final analysis, this was a game between two great teams, and Notre Dame won, 13-0. It was the kick by Frank Carides, brilliant quarterback, for a point after touchdown, which decided the issue.

In the east's big game, Yale beat Princeton, 13-0, with Albie Booth, rated by some as the year's best, fidgeting on the bench. It was the smashing play of Yale's substitute, Don Mc-Lennan, of Lake Forest, Ill., which won the game.

Riot May Cause Break of Schools

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 18.
(AP)—Continuing athletic relations between University of Detroit and Michigan State college depended today upon an investigation of the student riots that followed Saturday's football victory of the Detroit school here.

Twenty-three persons were arrested during the rioting and some property was damaged in Lansing and East Lansing. Starting immediately after the close of the game in which Detroit defeated State, 25-0, the rioting continued well into the night. Police prevented the destruction of the goal posts at one end of the stadium while students uprooted posts at the other. They were recovered later.

Ten Detroit students paid fines of $15 and costs each this morning and were released. Twelve others were dismissed from the East Lansing jail Saturday night after paying fines ranging from $10 to $30 and costs on similar charges. One Detroit student paid a $100 fine for destroying property in East Lansing.

Officials of Michigan State college were investigating the affair today.
President Robert S. Shaw withheld comment pending a more complete investigation, but H. H. Halliday, secretary of the college, openly favored severance of athletic relations between the two schools. Coach James Crowley said he had no game with Detroit. He had not heard of the rioting, however.

Amateur Billiard Tournaments Planned

The Amateur Billiard Association of America, which has been affiliated with the National Billiard Association of America, it has just been announced by G. Raymond Collins, president of the National Billiard Association. In the future all amateur tournaments will be held under the supervision of the Amateur Billiard Association of America, of which Mr. Collins is a distinguished member. The National Billiard Association will direct all professional billiard tournaments.

A schedule of 50 tournaments has been outlined for the amateurs, with national tournaments at 18.2 ball-line, pocket billiards and threecushions concluding the season's activities. Two tournaments already have been awarded the Pacific northwest to the Seattle Recreation academy on January 20, 21, 22 and 23, and the Pacific northwest 18.2 ballline to the Rialto Billiard academy in Portland, Ore., on January 27, 28 and 30.

Other tournaments on the list for which dates soon will be announced are the Pacific southwest three-cushion and 18.2 ballline, Pacific coast three-cushion and 18.2 ballline, western three-cushion and 18.2 ball-line, southern three-cushion and ball-line, Rocky mountain three-cushion and ballline, western three-cushion and ballline, Illinois three-cushion, ballline and pocket billiards; Minnesota pocket billiards, Michigan ballline, Oregon three-cushion and 18.2 ballline, Nebraska ballline, New England ball-line, and three-cushion, and eastern ballline and three-cushion.

Tech Infantry Beaten, 6 to 0

After battling in vain through three full periods and the greater part of a fourth Monday afternoon, the coast artillery eleven of the battalion grid force broke which they did not cash in the first quarter when they blocked a punt which rolled back across the goal line. It was not recovered the time, however, and went for a touchback.

More punts and short drives filled out the time until late in the final period, when the coast artillery got together for one long drive which was not halted.

YALE STAGED FINE COMEBACK, ROPER SAYS

Blue Showed It Was No One Man Team in Beat- ing Princeton.

By W. W. Roper.
Football Coach Princeton University
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Yale staged a fine comeback in the second half of the game with Princeton and won by 14-0. In the first two quarters honors were about even, but in the second half Yale had a marked advantage.

Donald R. McLennan was the bright particular star of the Yale team. He came in the game at the start of the second half and he certainly put plenty of fire and dash into the Yale team. I doubt if the redoubtable Booth could have put more.

Honors had been rather even in the first half because of Dave Lowry's splendid punting. I thought Princeton had a shade the edge. Neither team had been able to gain consistently and both lines had been putting up a hard driving defense.

TURNING POINT.

Princeton kicked off at the start of the second half. Bill Barfield got a splendid kick way off in the corner and it was Yale's ball on their own 15-yard line near the side lines, just a mean place to be. On the first play, however, McLennan swept around Princeton's left end for 50 yards and with this run went the football game, so far as Princeton was concerned. From that moment the Yale attack gathered momentum and on a steady march took the ball over the goal line for the first score.

McLennan's long run was a beautiful exhibition of offensive football. It was a wide sweep with No. 1 and No.
3 backs on the end. The two backs cut down the wing back and McLen-nan raced for the long side of the field.
The Princeton left side was completely boxed.

One play will often change the entire aspect of a game and McLennan's run was the particular play that did it on this occasion. After that run Yale had a marked advantage and scored in the fourth quarter on a forward pass, the only pass Yale used in the game.

BETTER RESERVES.

Yale had much better reserve material and outplayed Princeton throughout the entire second half.
The Yale men deserve a great deal of credit for their fine rally in the second half. They showed conclusively that they are no one-man team as the entire line and backfield played beautiful football.

Cornell must have played over its head to hold Dartmouth, 18-14, even with Masters out of the game. The Cornell line is not particularly heavy and was outweighed several pounds.
Captain Wakeman put up his usual brilliant game at tackle. Dartmouth certainly staged a beautiful comeback in the last period when Morton scored two touchdowns.

A powerful Colgate team defeated Syracuse, 21-0. Colgate's play in this game as well as all through the season stamps it as one of the great teams of the east. Pittsburgh ran over Carnegie Tech, 34-13. Toby Umana was the bright star of the game.
Pittsburgh undoubtedly has the strongest team in the east with a matchless line and some great backs.

HARD BATTLE.

Holy Cross gave Harvard a hard battle. Phil O'Connell caught the Harvard kickoff four minutes before the end of the game and ran 82 yards for a touchdown. Horween was saving his regular play for the Yale game, but had to use them after Holy Cross held the second team scoreless for the best part of the first half. The regulars had to work mighty hard when they got in to break down the Holy Cross defense. Holy Cross always gives Harvard a good game and this year was no exception.

Penn State upset after defeating Penn and lost to Bucknell 27-6.
I was not surprised at the State's let-down, but I was surprised at the size of the score. Bucknell has a powerful team and will give anyone a good game. Fordham ran up a large score against Little. Williams again won the Little Three championship, defeating Amherst, 19-0. Amherst's Caldwell, one of my old players, has been doing a fine job at Williams.

RUTGERS UPSETS.

Rutgers upset the dope by defeating Lehigh, 14-0, while Temple stopped
Lehigh's old rival, Lafayette. Brown,
Army and Navy all had hard days.
Davis-Elkins again showed its strength, defeating Villanova, 12-6.
Georgetown had a natural letdown
after its great game against the Navy and had to be satisfied with a 0-0 score against West Virginia. Tufts lost to Bowdoin. Franklin and Marshall played good football against Muhlenberg while Swarthmore managed to defeat Ursinus.

Young Jackets Resume Practice

Georgia Tech's freshmen grid squad, defeated at Auburn on Armistice Day, settled down Monday afternoon after a week's rest to the task of putting the line touches on the gridiron for their game with the South Carolina Crash at Grant field Saturday afternoon.

The Jacket yearlings, victorious in their first two clashes, failed in the sea of mud at Auburn but are expected to come back against the young Gamecocks this week.

Austie Downes Returns to Georgia Squad and Will Face Tide

Star Runs Signals As Practice Starts

Light Workout Held by Bulldogs for Game With Tide—Crimsons Given Rest.

By K. Anderson.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 18.—The coaches and players started preparation here today for the annual Thanksgiving game with the University of Alabama to be played at Birmingham.

The workout was a light one, consisting mainly of going down under punts, running signals and receiving passes. After the principal exercise was over, however, Head Coach Harry Mehre sent his men through a series of wind sprints.

For the first time since the first game of the season, the Georgia Bulldogs will have the service of Austie Downes when they face Coach Wade's Mountain Men on Turkey Day. Austie was on the field this afternoon calling signals for the first string team, and he appeared just as fast and alert as ever, though his shoulder is not entirely well. However, both Coach Mehre and Trainer Jones stated tonight that the little quarterback would be ready for the game on Thanksgiving. Georgia now has no major injuries in camp.

In the absence of Downes, the Bulldogs have been fortunate in having two other quarterbacks of the caliber of Tommy Paris and Moran. Both men are good field generals and Moran is an excellent passer, while Little Tommy Paris is a good ball-carrier and fine interference man.

Tomorrow the Red and Black players will have another rather light day, with the heavy work starting Wednesday.

Crimson Tide Given a Rest.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 18.—The Crimson Tide practice field looked like "the deserted village" Monday afternoon when Coach Wallace Wade rewarded the boys who whipped Tech with a holiday.

The training grind for the Tide's next attack on the gridiron prestige of the Peach state will begin Tuesday afternoon.

Going into the close of the season, the Crimson Tideners are in better physical shape than they have been at any time during the season's warfare. The Tide should be at full strength against the Georgia Bulldogs Thanksgiving Day.

20 Teams Left Among Unbeaten

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Only 20 of the nation's hundreds of football teams remained undefeated today, six in the east, five in the middle west, four in the south, three in the far west and two in the southwest.

Ohio University, of the Ohio conference, was showing the way in scoring with 273 points in eight games, all of which it won. Tennessee was second with 270; Tulane third with 268; Pittsburgh fourth with 257 and Texas Christian fifth with 208.

Although a full score have yet to meet defeat only 11 have escaped a tie. The five scoring leaders and Western Maryland, Purdue, Notre Dame, Utah, Spring Hill and Stetson alone have won every game played.

St. Mary's of California has the best defensive record in the country, not one enemy marker having been scored against it.

Learned Well.

Four Chicago backs who beat Princeton learned all their football from A. A. Stagg. Not one had high or prep experience.

A. A. U. FAVORS STARTING BLOCK FOR SPRINTERS

No Official Action Taken by Officers—Records Passed Upon.

By Alan Gould.

Associated Press Sports Writer. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—After a sharp controversy, the National Amateur Athletic Union, at its annual convention today, went on record as favoring the principle of foot starting blocks for sprinters.

At the same time the convention voted to withhold official adoption of the blocks or to permit their use in A. A. U. meets until they are recognized by international authorities as standard equipment.

In effect the A. A. U. decided that the starting blocks, several varieties of which now are in use, represent a progressive development for the betterment of track competition, from the viewpoint of the athlete as well as the spectator.

TO URGE BLOCKS.

American delegates to the next conference of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, to be held in Berlin next May, are expected to urge the adoption of a standard starting block but their use, so far as the A. A. U. is concerned, will be barred pending the outcome of this international confab. A proposal to make the use of blocks optional in A. A. U. meets until an international decision is reached was voted down.

Because of the controversy over the blocks, having the official approval of aid the sprinter, if at all, conditional approval only was accorded by the convention to the famous 100-yard dash of 9.5 seconds by George Simpson, of Ohio State, at Chicago, last June 8.

Simpson's mark was made with blocks, having the official approval of the National Collegiate A. A. U. under whose auspices the Chicago meet was held. It was the discussion of this record that brought the whole subject of starting blocks to the fore as the main convention topic today.

OTHERS STAND.

While there was no tendency to detract in the slightest from Simpson's performance, the fastest "100" on record, it was decided that for the time being marks made with blocks will be classified separately, not displacing the other records on the books.

Unexpectedly it developed that acceptance of a mark of 9.5 seconds for the "100" made by Eddie Tolan, of Michigan, and national champion at Evanston last May 25 may result in establishment of this mark as a new world's record. It was accepted unanimously, since Tolan did not use blocks. It will be recommended for adoption to the I. A. A. U., which now registers performances registered by ten-second watches. Tolan was barely beaten by Simpson in the latter's record race.

Last year, at Amsterdam, the international federation refused to accept Charles Paddock's record of 9.5 for the "100," as displacing the present mark of 9.5-5, because of the ban on tenth-second watches. In removing the ban, it was noted that retroactive to include Paddock's mark, made in 1928. Paddock's record was listed internationally among the 9.5-5 performances.

The conditional approval to Simpson's "100" applied also to the same sprinter's record-equaling 200 to 220 yards made at Evanston, May 25, and to the mark of 22.8-10 for the 220-yard low hurdles by Dick Rockaway, of Ohio State, made the same day. Rockaway's time bettered by 2-10 second the world record now held by C. H. Brookings, formerly of the University of Iowa.

OTHER RECORDS.

The principal other records given unofficial approval, in outdoor competition, were:

100-yard dash, 11.1 seconds by Lee Barnes, of Southern California at Fresno, April 18, 1935.

200-yard dash, 24.5 seconds by Eric Kress, of Stanford, at Palo Alto, March 1935, a world's record.

Shot put 51 feet 11 inches by Herman Krieger, of Fresno, at Fresno last April, an American record.

One hundred-yard dash, 3.5 seconds by Charles Borch and Frank Wyckoff at Fresno last April, equalling official world's record.

Twenty-four hundred-yard dash, 5 minutes 58.8 seconds by New York University team at Yonkers, N. Y., May 1935, an American record.

Among the indoor track and field records approved was one for 1,000 yards in 2 minutes 12 seconds made by Harold Cuttill, of Buffalo, N. Y., at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1935.

Other accepted indoor marks all made in 1935, and entered as world's records were:

Sixty-yard dash, 6.1-6, by Jack Elder, of Notre Dame.

Five hundred meters, 1 minute 5 seconds, by Phil Edwards, of University of Virginia.

Sixty-yard high hurdles, 7.5 seconds by Weems Bakin, of New York A. C., and Harry Phipps, of University of Virginia.

Half mile relay 1:35.2-5 by Newark A. C. Shot put (concrete) 46 feet 3 inches by Herb Schwere, of Illinois A. C.

Shot put (concrete) 46 feet 3 inches by Harlow Rothert, of Stanford.

Two-mile steepclimb 9 minutes 55.5 seconds by Black Tares, of Philadelphia.

Pole vault, dirt runway, 15 feet 7 inches by Thomas Warren, of Northwestern University.

Altogether the convention accepted 66 track and field records by men and women besides 48 assorted swimming records.

The convention will close tomorrow with election of a slate of officers headed by President Avery Brundage, of Chicago, approval of championship meet awards and selection of the 1936 meeting place. Washington or Chicago is expected to be the choice although Florida and Indiana associations also have made bids.

Mexican Prisoners Get Ring Lessons

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Belen jail authorities have set up a ring in the courtyard and hired teachers to instruct the prisoners in boxing.

The object is to wean criminals away from the use of knives and pistols, but a local newspaper sees in the innovation an added danger to society inasmuch as after a course in jail the criminal will have one more means of assailing his victim.

Creighton To Have Course for Coaches

Creighton university of Omaha will establish a training course for athletic officials. It will include football, basketball, basketball and track and field.

No Colds in Hockey.

When the Boston Bruins reported for hockey practice each man was given two inoculations of an anti-cold serum.

The SPORTSMAN Grantland Rice

Picking up again a point made a few days ago, there is this to remember about football—the better team doesn't always win—and a team two or three touchdowns weaker than some rival may yet pull out a game.

Football, basically, is the most unadorned competition that sport knows from the angle of justice and rewarding values as they should be rewarded. The complicated nature of the game calls for any number of breaks and these breaks can play a far bigger part in the final score than all the rest of the afternoon's play.

Then there are any number of official decisions rendered that might be called either ways and any one of these in any close game can decide the turn of tide in either direction.

It is no unusual thing to leave a field where the weaker team has won for one reason or another, that has nothing to do with football skill or the fundamentals of play.

There is also this matter to consider—that a team may be at least three touchdowns weaker one Saturday than it was the Saturday before. One hard battling game can take more out of a team than the public may realize. This is why teams playing harder schedules are at a big disadvantage against teams playing only two or three hard games through the fall. That resting spot in between two tough games can mean a lot. Both the Army and Dartmouth lost part of their snap and drive after hard hammering Harvard games.

Harvard and Yale.

Harvard and Yale are about even in this respect—that is, the matter of schedules.

Harvard has met Army, Dartmouth, Florida, Michigan and Holy Cross on successive Saturdays.

Yale has faced Georgia, Brown, Army, Dartmouth, Maryland and Princeton without a rest. These are two of the hardest schedules of the year, since neither team has had an easy game since early or mid-October.

Harvard has a slight advantage in the way of reserves. It isn't often that any one squad carries such a supply of backs as Wood, Putnam, Mays, Deven, Harper, Hughley, Gilligan, Potter and one or two more. Most of these are first class backs. Their average is above Yale's average. The Crimson has had no one back to compare with Booth, but there is still a world of offensive dynamite in the Harvard backfield. When the right combination starts to clicking it can play a lot of football.

The Big Opening.

The long delay that Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling have known in getting together has given a big opening to some good youngster packing the right stuff. The one trouble has been that no such prospect has yet been uncovered.

There are many who believe that Jack Kearns again has the lead in every young heavyweight by the name of Fay—a fast, cool, skillful, good punching kid who has shown unusual ability in his few fights. Fay is no killing puncher, but he can punish and cut up an opponent with more deftness than any other heavyweight now around. He may be the next candidate when Sharkey and Schmeling have finally decided which one belongs on top. Expensive seats will be harder to sell this winter—and possibly next summer. There doesn't seem to be as much loose change around as there was a few weeks or months ago, for one reason or another. The fight athletes will have to come a little closer to what they draw than they have up to date. They can't expect to collect large money any longer for merely taking a bow.

Intersectional Arguments.

"How," writes L. B., "do you account for this in figuring the east as good as the south: North Carolina, 42—Maryland, 0; Yale, 13—Maryland, 13; Georgia, 15—Yale, 0; Florida, 18—Georgia, 6; Tulane, 20—Georgia, 14?" Well, there's the Harvard, 14—Florida, 0, and Dartmouth, 30—Harvard 7.

Comparing sections is not as easy as it seems—although the mid-west has handed the east about 90 per cent more jolting than the east has handed back. The record to date is the best the east has ever hung up, so far as intersectional reckonings figure. Against leading teams in the east and south, mid-western teams have something like a margin of ten victories to one. In fact, Wall Street isn't the only place where the margin has been almost wiped out by something approaching a landslide and an avalanche.

VOLS RATED AMONG BEST

hall as sharply as Tennessee and very few teams rush to the point of attack as skillfully as the Volunteers. There is no need to praise them grudgingly. It is a wonderful team, and if there is any other team in the United States that could have defeated Tennessee yesterday it would have had to stir up some dust.

WAS NO DUST.

As a matter of fact, there was no dust Saturday. A protruding rain for a week had put the field in an awful condition. It was not merely a muddy field, it was an awful field. Water was standing on it and had been standing on it for days and had soaked down deep.

It is, perhaps, not graceful for me to say that this kind of field destroyed the type of game with which Vanderbilt has been successful this year, namely long passes, fake punts and double and triple passes. I am not convinced that on a good field Vanderbilt might not be the equal of Tennessee, but, of course, that has nothing to do with the question. The game was played and lost.

Tennessee did things which the normal mind would have considered impossible on that kind of field, but in these days when 98 per cent of American football teams lose at least one game during the season, Vanderbilt lost, and that's all.

SATISFACTION. Vanderbilt won two or her three critical games, beating Alabama and Georgia Tech, and I suppose we should be satisfied. I do believe that the Alabama and Tech games on the previous Saturday's left their marks, though Tennessee left considerably more marks Saturday.

Those who select All-American players often leave out of consideration the teams which are in the southern section, but this year they would do well to consider Tennessee along with the two or three best teams of the country. If the selectors want to be just, they will do so, if they know their stuff. If they want to be partisan and full of abundant inaccurate information they will not consider Tennessee seriously.

There were no other games of outstanding importance Saturday in the Southern conference. Alabama showed her consistent ability by winning from Tech, but Tech must have improved. I am not convinced that Georgia will have an easy time by any means with Tech.

Clemson showed that rare stuff which a good football team has, moral courage after two let-down defeats, by holding Florida to about as close a score as the game permits.

Kentucky, too, showed that she can stand the shock of defeat by winning from V. M. I. and V. M. I. showed good, hard-fighting, skillful football team.

And something might be said of L. S. U. A certain tradition is a valuable thing in some football games, and it takes years to build it up. Russell Cohen at L. S. U. is building it up. It will take time, but he is the type of man who can do it.

There are a lot of good football players in the Southern conference, and the section is running true to form by having unexpected victories and unexpected defeats. In this respect the Southern conference is doing what is being done everywhere the great American game is being played.

PETRELS DRILL FOR BEAR TILT HERE SATURDAY

Traditional Game With Mercer Seen as Bitter Battle.

Coach Harry Robertson and his Oglethorpe Petrels began a week of intensive work Monday afternoon at Hearnance stadium, in preparation for the annual clash Saturday with the Mercer Bears of Macon at Hearnance stadium. Mercer-Oglethorpe games are always the climax of their schedules of the two schools and regardless of the early games both elevens regard it as the feature of the entire schedule season.

Mercer has not had a great season and there are not so many outstanding players on the Macon team, but the Bears always rise to the heights in the Oglethorpe game.

Oglethorpe, on the other hand, has had a profitable season. The Petrels defeated Georgia, Dayton, Manhattan and St. Xavier in intersectional affairs and lost to the strong Villanova eleven. A defeat by Citadel is the one black mark on the Petrel schedule that hurt its chance for an S. I. A. A. title this year.

FIREWORKS.

In all of the past Oglethorpe-Mercer games the spectacular play of the afternoon has come in the initial period and several times it was recorded on the first play of the game. Several touchdowns have been scored on long runs from the kickoff and sometimes from the first play after the kickoff.

Spectacular plays are abundant in every Oglethorpe-Mercer game and despite the records this season local fans are assured of some more thrills next Saturday afternoon at Hearnance stadium.

Oglethorpe has a fast set of backs and in Cy Bell the Petrels have one of the stars of Dixie. It was Bell who galloped 60 yards in the Georgia game for a touchdown victory. It was old man Cy Bell who made a spectacular run against Georgia Tech three years ago and defeated the Engineers, 7 to 6.

LAST GAME. Old Man Cy Bell will play his heart out Saturday afternoon, for it will be his last appearance against Mercer. He delights to run for home fans and Cy has had but two opportunities to perform before local people this year.

Coach Harry Robertson has developed a strong line, one with weight and power enough to hold the strong St. Louis University team to a lone touchdown. St. Louis, with one of the heaviest lines in the country, held Georgetown to only four first downs and Georgetown is one of the strongest teams in the east.

There will not be any other football games in the city Saturday afternoon and Atlanta fans will have a good opportunity to see the flashy Oglethorpe eleven in action in what promises to be its best game of the season.

Six Elevens Top S. I. A. A.

The list of unbeaten Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association teams is gradually dwindling, but there are enough elevens left with perfect records to insure a red-hot fight right down to the tape.

Georgetown, of Kentucky, was the only contender to take the count over the week-end, leaving a field of six, headed by the frisky Moccasins of the University of Chattanooga to scrap it out among themselves for the championship.

While Georgetown was bowing its way out to the tune of a defeat served up by the West Kentucky Teachers, three of the first flight survivors were coasting along to handy wins and a fourth was battling to a scoreless deadlock. The others were not scheduled in the association.

MOCCASINS FIRST. Chattanooga, which tops the undefeated pack with six straight victories over association teams, got busy and piled up the biggest score of the day, burying Union of Tennessee under a 48-0 count.

The Bulldogs of Citadel made merry with Mercer's Bears, 22-0, and stayed on the heels of the Moccasins

Irish-Trojan Game Filled With Thrills

Lines Were Evenly Matched, Says Howard Jones, Forcing Both Teams to Go in Air.

By Howard Jones, Southern California Coach.

(Copyright, 1935, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.) EN ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—The 123,000 people who witnessed Saturday's game between the University of Southern California and Notre-Dame University can really say that they saw a thrilling game of football. In the opening minutes of play Southern California scored six points by the aerial route on a well executed forward pass, Duffield to Apst, only to be tied in the half by a long pass, Elder to Conley.

In my opinion, the margin of victory should be credited to the all-around superior playing of the Notre Dame backfield. Their speed in running interference and their deadly blocking, both in scrimmage and open field work, were splendid. The work of Savoldi at fullback and Elder at left half deserved special commendation. It was Elder's run at the crucial time that put Notre Dame in position to score.

At the same time, mention should be made of Carideo's return of a low punt by Plackett. The punting of Carideo was exceptional, especially because of his ability to place his kicks out of reach of the Trojan safety men. The lines of the two teams were evenly matched and this led both to resort to the forward pass in their efforts to score. In my estimation, Cannon played a great defensive game at guard for Notre Dame, and his captain, John Law, Moryahan played a strong game at center for Rockne's team.

In commenting upon line play, I must stress the end play of Tappan of Southern California. In the three years he has played for the Trojans I have never seen this boy play a poor game of football and he is as good as any end I have seen this year.

The work of Conley, Notre Dame's right end in receiving forward passes, was of the first-class order. In a general way, Notre Dame excelled in their down-the-field play—that is on punts—and in their open field blocking. In a game of this nature there were errors by both teams, such as always come in big games, always remember that these boys playing the game most of the time are giving their best. The game of last Saturday will go on the record as one of the hardest fought games of the year.

We of Southern California do not feel disgraced in being defeated by a great Notre Dame football team, well coached and well drilled in the fundamentals and strategy of the game.

Santa Clara repeated its feat of two years ago by defeating Pop Warner's Stanford Cards by the same score—13 to 7. Stanford put up a hard fight, tying the score in the third quarter.

Boys' High, Smithies Plan Secret Work for Battle Here Friday

Squads Will Drive Hard for Big Game

City Title, Chance at State Crown, Will Be Rewards for Victory.

By Roy White.

With the city title and a chance to play in the state championship elimination series as their laurel wreaths of victory, Boys' High and Tech High started their hardest week of practice Monday afternoon at Piedmont park for their game at Spiller's park Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Scenes of the practices will shift this afternoon into secret quarters. Boys' High will work during the remainder of the week behind closed gates on the Henry Grady field, while the practice field of Tech High has not been made known.

Both Boys' High and Tech High have been practicing at Piedmont park all season. Tech High using the north field and Boys' High the south field. Their work can easily be seen from the entrance of the park and with city and state championship possibilities attached to the game, it was decided to use other fields this week.

KEEN RIVALRY. Never before in the history of the two institutions has the rivalry been so keen. The players are literally bursting with eagerness to get into Friday's conflict and nothing except "beat Boys' High" and "beat Tech High" has been talked during the past few days.

Just what changes will be made in the teams and plays during the week was kept secret by Coaches Doyal at Boys' High, and Tolbert, at Tech High. They have something new and that something will be taught to the players during the secret drills during the week.

Boys' High and Tech High have met 20 times and the Smithies have been victorious in 12 of these. 20. Boys' High's last victory was in 1926 when the late Pete Ford droppedkick the Hurricane to a 6-0 victory.

Coach Doyal is making every effort to break a deadlock since he took over the reins of the Hurricane. Boys' High has two victories and two defeats, since Doyal has been coaching them.

ABUNDANT MATERIAL.

Boys' High has a wealth of material, especially for backfield duty. Coach Doyal can shift his entire backfield and still have a formidable combination. He has three excellent punters in Captain Elliott, Bothwell and Howard. He also has three or four excellent passers and has a capable set of receivers in "Kitty" Katt and Nash, ends, with Spratling as a with four triumphs, while Stetson downed Miami, 12-0, giving it a record of three wins inside the association.

The Centre Colonels, who also have defeated three S. I. A. A. adversaries, were held to a scoreless tie by Pennsylvania and failed to gain ground, while Spring Hill and Louisiana College, in the charmed circle with three and two wins each, held their advantage by remaining idle.

Every one of the five games played last Saturday had a direct bearing on the championship. Friday saw Mississippi College trounce Louisiana Poly 21-0, and Wofford subdue Newberry, 26-0.

TWO BIG GAMES.

This week's program lists only two games of importance. Oglethorpe, after a siege of intercollegiate games with eastern and western teams, returns to S. I. A. A. competition against Mercer at Atlanta and Centenary will make its only appearance of the season in the association against Louisiana Poly at Shreveport.

The fact that Howard and Birmingham-Southern are both out of the running will not detract from the interest when these keen rivals square off at Birmingham. Past performances count for nothing when these teams clash. Citadel gets a chance to show its wares against Southern conference opposition against Clemson and unless the Tigers look better than in their last three starts, the S. I. A. A. may score its second victory of the season over a conference team. Southwestern licked Sewanee a week ago. Another hard-fought encounter is anticipated at New Orleans, where Spring Hill tackles the fast-stepping Loyola eleven.

TOSS-UP. There is little to choose between the two teams and Atlanta fans can be assured of one of the best prep football games of the season.

It is the first time in several years that the teams have been so well matched. No stone will be left unturned in preparing for the game. It is the first time in many years that the coaches have thoroughly scouted the other team and both Coach Doyal and Coach Tolbert have numerous charts and diagrams of the other's plays.

Shikat To Defend Title at Miami

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Joe (Toots) Mondt, manager of Richard Shikat, recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as heavyweight wrestling champion, announced tonight that Shikat had signed a contract to defend his title in Miami, Fla., next February against some worthy contender. Mondt said a group of Miami business men, headed by Robert Lane, had offered $40,000 to defend his title.

Why Not an Honor System?

There probably will be some more or less earnest consideration later of the general allegations made against the conduct of intercollegiate football in the report of the Carnegie foundation for the investigation of teaching. At the current writing it is quite as unimpressive as Mr. Ford's peace ship when the World War was only getting under way. It is very unwise to attempt to separate fighters until both of them are in the mood to be separated.

One of my own pet notions for a football reform is the doing away with a scheme for reform. I am thinking of the so-called eligibility rule. It is my notion that this was founded on mutual suspicion and distrust among the colleges, and that it was a frank admission the colleges would cheat if they did not watch one another.

Of course, this is one of the phases of the "overemphasis" of football. None of the colleges would cheat in any academic matter. They would not, for instance, intimate to a particularly brilliant student in some other university that if he transferred to Whatis he would be sure of his Phi Beta Kappa key. Emisaries from one college alumni association would not approach a student of another college to suggest to him that if he transferred to their institution he might reasonably expect a bigger and better degree.

But it seems, not only from the Carnegie foundation report, but from other evidence, which, though circumstantial, is fairly strong, that this sort of thing is done in regard to intercollegiate football. The eligibility rule is supposed to stop this. No football player is allowed more than three years of football. A football player who transfers must attend his new mater for a year before he is permitted to play on the team of his new college. Free men may not play on the varsity team.

But the eligibility rule has not prevented the thing it was designed to prevent. The Carnegie foundation report might have shown that certain colleges built up their best teams through transfers. You cannot bring about honesty by legislation, any more than you can bring about prohibition by a Volstead act.

It strikes me that the only way to correct the "evil" at which the eligibility rule is aimed is to put all the colleges on their honor. At present all of them keep the letter of the law because they are compelled to. If there were no rule the chances are they would keep the spirit of it without compulsion. But when the fact understanding is that all the colleges will get around the rule, if they can, there is a natural competition in the matter of getting around it most effectively.

I am one of the few who like the spirit of the United States Military academy in this regard. At West Point they say, in effect: "When we name a man on our football team, that means that he is a bona-fide cadet who has entered the academy to become a soldier and not for the purpose of playing football. To be on our word. This is the best proof of the player's eligibility. We naturally resent any other standards of judging the eligibility of our athletes."

It should be that way in all the colleges. I am certain that were the other institutions put on their honor, they would no more think of permitting cheating in the matter of building up a football team than they would of permitting cheating in examinations. If they would, then intercollegiate football should be abolished until the attitude toward it becomes more sane and more honorable.

Advice to Magnates.

The baseball magnates will convene here next month. It is a bit unfortunate that they are not convening this month, while the football madness is at its height. Then it might be more apparent to them that the time has come for keeping the baseball season within reasonable limits.

There are no exact statistics available, but it is reasonable enough to assume that intercollegiate football in its brief series of eight games draws bigger gate receipts and bigger money and holds more general interest than does the national pastime in its long-drawn-out season of 154 games.

At the close of the late lamented baseball season, for two weeks there was no interest whatever in the national pastime excepting in the Cubs and the Athletics. The baseball season was stretching over into the football season. Of course, the early football games used to be called "unimportant," but some of those unimportant games drew bigger attendance than some of the closing big league baseball games.

I do not say that baseball is losing its hold on the customers, but the close of the last season might have offered some evidence which could be construed that way. It is quite clear that when the races in both of the big leagues are concluded the interest expires automatically.

Either the magnates should curtail their baseball season or they should make a ruling to the effect that when both races are decided to the well known mathematical certainty the big league baseball season should end automatically. There is no logic in keeping the parks open when there are no customers. If the magnates do this they will find themselves penalized heavily for offside play in the matter of seasons.

International Schedule Okay

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(United News.)—The International league failed to select a president to succeed the late John Conway Toole at its annual meeting here today. Charles L. Knapp, of Baltimore, was named to continue as chairman of the executive committee until the minor league meeting at Chattanooga, Tenn., December 4, 5 and 6, when another attempt will be made to select a president.

Two of the many candidates for the job, understood to have been Jack Hendricks, former manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and William L. Dill, defeated candidate for governor of New Jersey in the last election, were denied with four votes each.

The league passed a resolution condemning the recent action of Judge Landis in punishing Billy Southworth and George Toole of Rochester as "unjust and excessive" and offered its support for an appeal. Southworth was fined and Toole was suspended from organized baseball for a year because of their connection with an argument with an umpire during the little world series.

The 1930 schedule was adopted, calling for 108 games. The season will open April 10 and close September 21. An attempt to reduce the playing schedule to 154 games was vetoed.

The player limit was reduced from 25 to 21, effective from May 20 through August 20. William B. Carpenter, of Cincinnati, was named supervisor of umpires.

Council Invites New Orleans Fans To Athens Game

Another step in welding the ties of friendship between New Orleans, the south's Crescent City, and Atlanta, the south's Gate City, was taken Monday by city council when that body voted unanimously to ask a large delegation to attend the Tech-Georgia football game to be played December 7 at Athens.

Many Atlantans, including several members of council, attended the Tech-Tulane game at New Orleans, and they were regally entertained.

Following that, several from the Queen City visited Atlanta and witnessed the Tech-Notre Dame clash. This cemented the ties binding the officials of the two leading southern metropolises and Monday council took steps to have more than a score of leading citizens from the state to be guests of Atlanta en route to the Athens game.

Included among the list are Governor and Mrs. Huey P. Long, of Louisiana; Mayor and Mrs. T. Semmes Walmesley, of New Orleans, and Miss Augusta Walmesley.

ry 4. It was decided to leave the holding of the holiday dates to the schedule committee.

CARR-TRIDGE BALL. The Southern league will use the Carr-Tridge ball, manufactured by Charles Carr, of Indianapolis, for six more years. The contract has one year more to run but was renewed for five additional years. The only new legislation enacted was an amendment of the rule concerning the suspension of players on account of injuries. A player may be reinstated after he has been on the suspended list for 10 days. Last season a player could not be placed on the suspended list for less than 21 days.

The league went on record as welcoming into the fold the new owners of the Atlanta club, including Bobby Jones, who plays golf sometimes, and also Colonel Engel as owner of the Lookouts. Engel incidentally stated that he was going to have a brand new baseball park and was reasonably sure he would have a ball team. Charlie Miller, of Memphis, was re-appointed league statistician for his fourth year, and W. A. Smith, of Memphis, was named auditor for the twelfth time.

NO DEALS. Although two managers, Doc Prothro, of Memphis, and Clarence Rowland, of Nashville, and a prospective manager of Mobile, Jimmy Hamilton, were knocking around, no player deals were announced.

W. D. (Quack) Smith, president, and Billy West, secretary and business manager of the Barons, saw a little deal. "Yes, we have not named a manager yet and yes, we have not seriously considered any one," despite this announcement, Jim Gallows, who managed the Wichita Falls club last season, was here today and conferred with Messrs. Smith and West. Gallows is just one of the numerous candidates for the job, said Smith and West together. They didn't seem to care to talk tangibly. President Martin's financial report showed the league in good standing. It also showed that the business of 1929 was as close to the business of 1928 as any two seasons in the history of the league.

There were slumps in attendance at some places but gain at others over the 1928 season.

THE MEMBERS.

The members were guests of President Martin at a luncheon and guests of Tom Watkins at an informal dinner at the Tennessee Club last night. Those attending were: R. J. Spiller, Atlanta; W. D. Smith and Billy West, Birmingham; Joe Engel and Bob Richard, Chattanooga; Bob Allen, Little Rock; Chick Roosa and W. A. Douglas, Mobile; Jack Whaley and Clarence Rowland, Nashville; Jules Heinemann, New Orleans; Tom Watkins and Frank Longinotti, Memphis.

Tiny Hearn Joins Rochester Quint

Tiny Hearn, who played tackle on Tech's grid teams and center on the jacket basketball squad in 1925 and 1926, has found his way into the quint in professional basketball circles. They will hurt him 6 feet 9 1/4 inches of skilled flesh into the game with the Rochester quint of the American Professional Basketball league.

Hearn, a fast young giant whose height enables him to take his stand under the basket and tip high passes through the ring for points, is the regular center on the Central, who are being touted as dangerous contenders in the race to dethrone the Cleveland Rosenblums, present champions.

Fox Hounds Led By Sister Tuck

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Sister Tuck, lemon and white puppy, owned by L. S. Sutton, of Richmond, Va., had high score at the end of the first day of the ninth Chase futurity, the opening event of the 36th annual fall trials of the National Fox Hunters' Association.

Sister Tuck's score was 70 and three were tied at 60 for second rank. These were Fan Jackson, owned by Dr. R. M. Casper, of Louisville; Helen Florer, owned by Henry Browning, of Russellville, Ky., and Shears, owned by C. C. Glass, of Nashville, Ky.

Sister Tuck is by Tuck Stride out of Sister Ella. The sire, owned by A. G. Roff, of Richmond, is entered in the all age trials for the last time. He is nine years old.

Just as the sun was rising this morning 70 puppies, whelped since January, 1928, were cast in the Chase futurity, and only eight of that number were ruled out by the judges tonight for infractions of rules. More than 300 riders followed the hounds today over the Harpeth Hills and a larger number was expected tomorrow.

Atlanta: W. D. Smith and Billy West, Birmingham; Joe Engel and Bob Richard, Chattanooga; Bob Allen, Little Rock; Chick Roosa and W. A. Douglas, Mobile; Jack Whaley and Clarence Rowland, Nashville; Jules Heinemann, New Orleans; Tom Watkins and Frank Longinotti, Memphis.

TIGERS OFFER BETTER TEAM

Jackets, Coach John Floyd's Auburn Tigers are expected to improve their playing and put up a hard fight against the 1928 national champions.

The playing of the Plainsmen against the Bulldogs was much better than displayed in New Orleans against Tulane. On several occasions the linesmen broke through and threw the Georgia ball carriers for losses. Something that they have done very few times this season, and the ends and tackles were getting down on punts as very few Auburn punts were returned for large gains. Elder McKee, Taylor, Newton and Andrews showed a reversal of form and were downing the receivers almost in their tracks.

Captain Howell Long and Dunham Harkins were again two of the Plainsmen mainstays. Long performed in another new position but looked like a veteran at times. With a good deal of practice before the Tech game, Captain Long should show up mighty well on Grand field in the role of line plunger. Harkins has been the big threat for the Tigers this season in her forward wall as very few gains have been made over center. He has been very adept in batting down passes and intercepting them. The former Jones Valley star is one of the best pivot men in the conference and will have to be reckoned with when the mythical All-Southern eleven is picked.

The initial practice session of the week consisted of a short drill in blocking and signal practice. Rough work probably will be absent from Drake field until the latter part of the week as Coach Floyd wants his Tigers to be in the best of shape when they meet the Jackets.

Captain Long, Grady Long, Spann, Callahan, Jones, Chamblee and Yarbrough will be rounding out their careers in an Orange and Blue uniform on Turkey Day and are expected to play the best games that they ever have as every player likes to write him to his four years wearing the moleskins in glory.

BOND LIST REGAINS GROUND BUT LOST

Steady Investment Demand

And Easier Credit Aid Rise

Liberty 4 1/4, as well as the treasury

3 3/4 and 3 3/8 of 1940-43 to new high ground for the year. First grade industrial and utility bonds showed gains averaging considerably less than a point, but there was some ease in the secondary carrier loans.

Advances of 1 to 2 points were scattered throughout the domestic list,

notably in Armour 5 1/2 and 4 1/2,

Baltimore and Ohio 5s, Central

Georgia 5s, St. Paul 5s and Chicago & Western Indiana

5 1/2s, Union & Manhattan

5s, Louisville & Nashville 5s,

Missouri, Kansas & Texas

5s, Skelly Oil 5 1/2s, American

Investment 5s, Western Paper

5s, Chicago General 5s. Gains of about half a point appeared in numerous high grade rails. The utilities were rather quiet.

Convertible bonds, through an irregular session, American Telephone

4 1/2s had a net decline of 3/4,

while International Telephone

4 1/2s, after selling 3 points, suffered a loss of 1 point.

Foreign bonds were likewise irregular. Brazilian issues, which have been weak in sympathy with the depression, were hardened, but

Colombian Agricultural Bank 5s, also affected by the coffee situation, went

European government loans tended higher.

Trading in obligations of the United States was in small blocks, but the list demand sent first and fourth sales.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 80

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan strained his eyes into the night toward the direction of the thing that had riveted his attention. . . . Again he saw it! Again it flashed across the blackness of the ocean waters. Then he turned and called aloud to the men dozing beside the campfire. They came running to his side; but the stranger hesitated when he beheld the sleek panther by the side of the great white giant.

"Sheeta is the equal of twenty men," he continued, "and the few others I can bring will make our fighting strength that of a hundred men. You do not know them!" The ape-man turned and raised his head toward the jungle, while there pealed from his lips the time of the fearsome cry of the bull-ape who would summon his fellows. Presently from the jungle came an answering cry, and then another and another!

CONGO GOSSAMER LOOKS SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

By R. L. BARNUM

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—While there have been very few changes in open prices this week on print cloth, sheetings and drills, the decline in cotton has opened the way for some trading on quantities at concessions and considerable business of this character has been done during the week, so that our sales for the week are the largest since October 11, though still a trifle below full production. Recognizing the gravity of the situation, the print cloth and sheeting mills are planning to curtail approximately 27 per cent to the end of the year, or longer, if necessary. Yarn mills and colored goods mills are following suit.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—For the first time in nearly a month the temperature of the stock market today was normal. From the opening of the close there was an absence of the feverish conditions of recent weeks. Opening prices were irregular but with many leading shares showing gains over Friday's closing. For the first time there was an upward movement in prices. Then the selling was better than the buying. In both the advance and the subsequent decline the price movement was orderly, contrasted with the wild movements of recent weeks.

Without this curtailment it would not have been possible to maintain the price structure; with it, we believe that it will be. The situation seems to be thoroughly deflated. The prices of goods have been close all through the year. There was considerable regulation of production during the summer, and consequently, sales for the first 10 months of the year were fully in line with actual production for that period. There has been a demand for cotton, and one-half billion dollars in Wall Street, and the consequent ease in the money market, will have full play.

Call money was easier as a result of the unprecedented outflow of funds released in recent weeks from stock speculation. Call money opened at 5 1/2 per cent and dropped early in the morning to 4 1/2 per cent. Before noon, however, plenty of call money was offered in the outside money market at 4 per cent. There was no demand for time money. Recently, stock brokers are waiting for further stabilization in the stock market before borrowing time money. Money brokers do not expect a recovery in the time money market until some time more is known about the trend of general trade. Over the weekend Wall Street reached the conclusion that the trend in the stock market was not as bullish as it had been in the last analysis on the trend in general trade.

TRIAL OF McMANUS OPENS IN NEW YORK

Only One Juror Accepted on First Day; Defense
Cautious.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(United News.)—The long-delayed trial of George A. McManus, accused of the murder of Arnold Rothstein, began today. When court adjourned, one juror had been selected, 30 prospective jurors had been examined and rejected and a cross-section of the ideas of wealthy New Yorkers had been given to the general public.

Eugene A. Riker, a prosperous-looking salesman, well dressed and plainly a thinking man, was the one juror selected. Another, Wallace Simmonds, a stock broker, was acceptable to both sides but he developed an illness and his physician sent the court a certificate which resulted in his being excused on account of bad health.

With 120 names left on the panel when court adjourned tonight, there still was some hope of completing the jury before the present panel is exhausted, but not much.

No Woman in Jury.

McManus, big, dressed in brown, always smiling, was in court early and followed all the proceedings with every evidence of deep interest. Judge John Nott asked if the defense were ready to proceed, McManus arose and answered "ready" for himself, without waiting for his lawyer, James D. C. Murray, to do it. He smiled at the court as he answered.

Then, with only a few preliminaries such as calling the jury roll and reading the list of witnesses, lawyers got down to the work of selecting a jury. It previously had been announced that the panel was a "blue ribbon" affair, chosen from the higher strata of society with the view of getting an intelligent verdict with a minimum of difficulty. There were no women among the 150 talesmen summoned. But if anyone thought it would be easy to get a jury for such a trial from such a panel, he was mistaken. Through the questioning of 30 jurors a list was revealed of typical, prosperous New Yorkers of the kind who have just dropped fortunes on Wall Street, but only one juror who had the endurance to meet the requirements was brought to light.

No Gambling Prejudice.

The others said they had no prejudice against gamblers if their gambling was done honestly and without marked cards or loaded dice; none of them had any objections to capital punishment; and a surprising number had the various fashionable diseases such as ulcers of the stomach and liver complaint, which seemed to make them ineligible for an important murder trial jury.

The state questioned the prospective jurors only briefly while the defense went into more detail. Practically every talesman examined was asked if he had anything against an "honest gambler." He was asked if he had anything against a "honest gambler." He was asked if he had anything against a "honest gambler."

Another when asked his prejudices against gambling explained he was a stock broker and that "they gamble on Wall Street." The answer was entirely satisfactory. He had many in both the highest and the lowest strata of society under obligations to him. McManus is no small figure in the same sense as the late David Wolfson, a gambler died of some $500,000. Just what might develop in the way of violence from such a trial, the court does not care to guess and is taking no chances.

McManus seems thoroughly confident he can take care of himself. In court there is nothing of the furtive, hunted man about him. He moves with ease. Everyone is regarded by him as a friend or a potential friend. He seems to give no thought to possible enemies.

When he left court tonight his brother, a giant of a man, standing over six feet tall and of the same powerful, active, athletic type as McManus himself, was waiting at the courtroom door. They didn't appear to need any protection beyond that which could give themselves as they strode down the hallway and passed out into the street, smiling and chatting as they went.

JOHN K. OTTLEY, SR., LAUDED FOR SERVICES

Engraved Silver Plate Is Presented Him by Fourth National Directors.

John K. Ottley, Sr., president of the Fourth National Bank, was presented an engraved silver plate and a series of resolutions in book form bound in sheepskin, by members of the board of directors at a dinner Monday night given at the Capital City Club by Lee Ashcraft, director.

The occasion marked the last gathering of the directors before the merger of the Fourth National Bank and the Atlanta-Georgia Trust Company into the First National Bank of the First National, goes into effect Wednesday. It was the last chance for the directors of the Fourth National to meet as an individual unit, and all were present. In the future they, with the directors of the Atlanta-Georgia Trust, will form the board of the new bank.

In addition to Mr. Ottley and members of the board there were a number of other guests, among them being Mell R. Wilkinson, George W. McCarty, Jr., John K. Ottley, Jr., and Morris Brandon and John A. Hynds, Fourth National attorneys.

Presenting Mr. Ottley with the token of esteem, he was given high praise for his leadership of the bank which has made it one of the leaders in the south.

Directors of the Fourth National Bank, in addition to Mr. Ottley and Mr. Ashcraft, are: Edward C. Peters, J. H. Wilkinson, George W. McCarty, Jr., John K. Ottley, Jr., Morris Brandon and John A. Hynds, Fourth National attorneys.

Eat Candy, Grow Thin, Prescribes Confection Man

"Eat candy and grow thin," says Walter C. Hughes, secretary and treasurer of the National Confectioners' Association, which opened sessions of the executive committee's meeting at the Biltmore hotel, at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

"If you eat a piece of candy five minutes before meal time, you will kill your appetite, and only eat half as much dinner as under ordinary circumstances. This is the reason candy will serve to reduce instead of to fatten. This theory is one of the many educational ideas we will discuss in the next few days."

The executive committee of the organization, consisting of 20 members of the National Confectioners' Association, is to hold three meetings the last of the year prior to the general convention which will be held in Chicago in December. The second meeting was held Monday night, and the third is to be Tuesday morning.

Plans for an advertising program for the association will be discussed, it has been announced.

Under the terms of Section IV (b) of the bill of lading the Southern Railway company will sell for cash for the highest bid at the street car track, adjacent to receiving freight terminal, Monday, December 2nd, at 11:00 A. The first of the new Stearman mail planes landed at Candler Field Monday, according to an announcement by officials of the Interstate Airlines. It was headed southward from Evansville, Ind., and carried three passengers besides the pilot, Dane Fricks.

J. A. Rieley, meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau at Candler Field, led Monday upon an air trip of inspection of points along the Atlanta-New Orleans air mail route. He will study conditions in an effort to improve weather service along the line.

Postmaster E. K. Large Monday described the beginning of the Atlanta-Jacksonville air mail route. He will study conditions in an effort to improve weather service along the line.

The Atlanta chapter of the A. A. A. held an informal luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club Monday at noon at which Major General Frank R. McCoy, commanding general of the fourth corps area, was the guest of honor. He was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. McCoy, Major General McCoy was introduced by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, who outlined the career of the distinguished visitor.

General McCoy stated that the fourth corps area is eager to co-operate with local aviation and that the new air officer of the corps, Lieutenant Colonel W. W. Whitington, is stationed at the Candler field. He believes that this will result in the army hangar being placed at the municipal airport for Atlanta, where it will be available for the use of service planes landing at the field, and for reserve officers in this district.

ENGLAND FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 18. (Special.)—An assemblage of 500 to-day attended funeral services for the Rev. Berman R. England, conducted from the Methodist church here with the Rev. H. C. Emory, presiding elder, officiating. Rev. Emory was assisted by the Rev. J. W. Quilan, of Decatur, First Methodist Church; Rev. A. Reiser, of Lawrenceville First Baptist church, and Rev. B. F. Anderson, of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian church.

Rev. England was stricken with apoplexy early Saturday morning in an Atlanta hotel and died a few hours later in a hospital here. He was attending the North Georgia Methodist conference, and had superannuated Thursday after having given 45 years of his life to the ministry.

Dr. and Mrs. England had intended making their home at Jackson, Ga., but they had been in Lawrenceville for the past two years and during that time had endeared himself with everyone with whom he came in contact.

The body will be carried to Tifton early Tuesday morning. Burial will take place in the cemetery there Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Besides his wife, Rev. England is survived by a son, Claude R. England, of Tifton; a brother, Rev. J. E. England, of Jonesboro, and three sisters.
